THE NATION

A compromise $5.4 billion three-year housing bill, the largest housing bill in history, with a new home-ownership program for low income families, is approved by Senate and House conferees.

An effort to require registrations of guns is crushed by the House, casting doubt on the future of a measure to ban interstate mail-order sales.

President Johnson and President Thieu size up problems of continuing war in Asia and the sparring over possible peace at Paris.

Thousands of allied troops guarding Saigon look for terrorism and rocket attacks Saturday on what the Vietnamese call "Shame Day," the anniversary of the 1954 Geneva agreement.

BOY SCOUTS FEATURED

Meet Lyle DeVore. Lyle is a Boy Scout, a member of Chief Cornplanter Council. Like several hundred Scouts in the county Lyle is spending a week of his summer vacation at Camp Olmsted. Remember how it was when you were a young lad and could romp unrestricted through the woods, having fun? Camp Olmsted offers a similar opportunity to the many Scouts in the area. For at least one week each summer any Scout who desires can take part in the many supervised activities offered at the camp. Like Lyle, hundreds of Scouts throughout the county are now enjoying scouting at its best. See Boy Scout feature in today's Allegheny section.

Doubt Looms On Confirmation Of Abe Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee concluded Friday its historic interrogation of Abe Fortas amid deep doubt that he could be confirmed as chief justice of the United States before Labor Day. Badly divided, the committee called Judge Homer Thornberry of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans for questioning Saturday on his nomination to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

However, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Thornberry would be questioned by only part of the committee.

"Part of the committee does not think there is a vacancy," Eastland said. "Thornberry probably will be called again after the Fortas matter is determined by the Senate."

Eastland told a reporter the committee will meet in closed session "one day next week" to consider President Johnson's nomination of Fortas.

This probably would be Wednesday, the committee's regular meeting day. At that time, the objection of one senator could defer action for another week.

By then, the Senate—which must give its consent if Fortas is to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice—will be ready to close down for the Republican National Convention, set to start Aug. 5.

The Democratic National Convention opens Aug. 26. The Senate presumably could meet between the two sessions to act on the Fortas and Thornberry nominations. At this stage, however, this is considered unlikely.

Ray Awaits Trial In Guarded Jail Cells

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray waited Friday in the relative luxury of four heavily guarded jail cells, all air-conditioned, for his trial on charges of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

His lawyer, denied a seat on the military jet which brought Ray from London before dawn, told newsmen in New York that Ray "is anxious to come to trial and clear the matter up." The attorney, Arthur Hanes of Birmingham, Ala., arrived at Kennedy Airport by commercial airliner.

There were reports that Hanes would come to Memphis soon to confer with state prosecutors, but he told newsmen in New York he would not seek to have the trial moved from Memphis.

Ray, accused of assassinating King here 15 weeks ago, was whisked under heavy police guard from the nearby Memphis Naval Air Station to the Shelby County jail before dawn. Newsman saw him, but Sheriff William Morris distributed pictures of him wearing a bullet proof vest and handcuffed.

The trip from London, which began at midnight in Britain, took 10½ hours. The transfer from the Navy base at nearby Millington to the jail took 46 minutes.

There was a tight lid on publicity after the sheriff held a news conference an hour after Ray's arrival.

House Kills Proposals For Gun Registration

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to require registration of pistols, rifles and shotguns was crushed by the House Friday, casting doubt on the future of a measure to ban the interstate mail-order sales of shotguns.

After two hours of debate, the House rejected by a vote of 172 to 68 an amendment by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., that would have required the registration of all firearms.

Shortly afterwards, the body defeated by a 168-89 vote an amendment by Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., that would have limited the registration to handguns alone.

Jeanne Dixon Did Not Predict That Kinzua Dam Would Break

There has been widespread talk around Warren County that the famed Kinzua Dam was about to break.

The tales appear to have resulted from a rumor that such a disaster had been predicted by Jeanne Dixon whose extraordinary perception is widely discussed.

However, Miss Dixon has advised the Times-Mirror and Observer by long distance telephone that the rumor reached her and that the alleged prediction is false.

REACHING THE PEOPLE

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller leans from a speaker's stand to shake hands with an airport crowd as other helping hands keep him from tumbling over the railing. As the national conventions draw closer, each candidate makes his own attempt to reach the people, Rockefeller has stated he feels he can win, that Nixon will not be chosen on the first ballot. Nixon, however, now has former President Eisenhower's endorsement.

Thieu Puts in Bid for Money Rather Than Additional Men

HONOLULU (AP) — President Johnson and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu sized up Friday the vast problems of continuing war in Asia and the sparring over possible peace at Paris.

And Thieu in a statement at a session he and Johnson had with their top advisers put in a sort of bid for additional money—but not more U.S. men—to strengthen Vietnam's defense in the conflict against the Communist North.

The two chief executives conferred about an hour at the headquarters of the commander in chief of the Pacific on a hilltop overlooking Pearl Harbor. Their advisers met separately on special matters in their special spheres.

All the conferees then sat for two hours at a long mahogany table exchanging views.

There were prior indications that they might get into the thorny issue of halting the bombing of North Vietnam completely in an attempt to spur peace talks. They may have done this in their private discussions, but there was no immediate acknowledgement that this was the case.

In his formal statement released in full later, Thieu put himself on record as sharing completely Johnson's views on "our joint commitment to the search for a just and stable peace," as voiced by the President.

There was no word on when Ray's arraignment might be. Deputies were stationed both inside and outside Ray's freshly painted cells, which contain a telephone and a closed-circuit television monitoring system. Quarter-inch steel plates covered the windows of the third-floor cells.

Criminal Court Judge W. Preston Battle, who will hear the trial, issued a 10-section list of rules which will restrict news coverage. The rules bar all principals in the case from taking part "in interviews for publicity and from making extra-judicial statements" until a verdict is reached.

It is understood the telephone in Ray's cellblock will be for the use of the guards. But Ray is expected to have access to it, partly to combat any contention he is being held incommunicado.

Fliers Released by Hanoi Did Not Arrive in Vientiane

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The three American fliers released by North Vietnam did not arrive Friday in Vientiane, leading to speculation they might be returned to the United States through Europe.

They were expected to be aboard the weekly International Control Commission plane from Hanoi, which is the only scheduled air service out of North Vietnam that does not pass through Communist China.

U.S. Ambassador William Sullivan met the plane and was told by the French pilot that neither the fliers nor the three Americans who oppose the war in Vietnam and who were to accompany them were on the flight.

Earlier Friday Radio Hanoi broadcast that the six Americans were leaving "for return to their homes." The English-language broadcast did not say how they were leaving or where they would arrive, but U.S. authorities assumed their destination was the Laotian capital.

There was speculation that North Vietnam decided to send the pilots on a European flight to prevent the U.S. government from interrogating them before they left Southeast Asia.

American authorities had planned to take the men directly from the Vientiane airport to the U.S. air base at Udorn, Thailand, where intelligence officers could question them on prison camps, fellow prisoners and other data still fresh in their minds.

This was done with three other American fliers released by North Vietnam last February, and antiwar campaigners claimed this policy endangered the chance of additional prisoners being released.

The fliers, released Thursday to the antiwar committee, are Capt. Joe Victor Carpenter, 37, Victorville, Calif.; Maj. Fred Neal Thompson, 32, Taylors, S.C.; and Maj. James Frederick Low, 43, a Korean War ace from Sausalito, Calif.

The fliers' escorts are Stewart Meacham of Philadelphia, peace secretary of the American Friends Service Committee; Anne Scheer of Berkeley, Calif., wife of Ramparts magazine editor Robert Scheer; and Vernon Grizzard, an antidraft organizer from Cambridge, Mass.

dent in his speech March 31 that also renounced another presidential term.

"After so many years of war," the Vietnamese chief executive said, "we are longing for peace, but we cannot accept from the Communists, according to the expressions of President Johnson, 'a fake solution and call it peace,' because such a solution would be only a time bomb for Southeast Asia and for the world."

Allies Look for Terrorist Attacks on Eve of 'Shame Day'

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of allied forces guarding Saigon looked for terrorist attacks and a possible rocket barrage Friday on the eve of what the Vietnamese call "Shame Day," the anniversary of the 1954 Geneva agreement that split North and South Vietnam.

A senior U.S. officer said intelligence reported the enemy might launch a small-scale ground assault and shelling, although there is no imminent threat of a long anticipated major offensive.

There have been reports that between 1,000 and 1,600 Viet Cong commandos have slipped into Saigon. But Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said the allies are "well prepared" for any attack.

Thousands of American and South Vietnamese infantrymen continued sweeps around the capital and found four more weapons caches three to seven miles southwest of Saigon. They turned up three bazooka-type rocket launchers, more than 100 rockets, 16,000 rounds of ammunition, more than 200 grenades and about 200 pounds of TNT.

Abrams said North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces around Saigon are making every effort to avoid contact.

Abrams refused to speculate when the enemy might launch the threatened third offensive, saying, "That's like betting on a horse race."

Police uncovered what appeared to be a Viet Cong local headquarters in downtown Saigon, seizing two automatic rifles, several Viet Cong flags, documents and two suspects.

A general lull in ground action persisted through the rest of the country. Associated Press correspondent John Lengel quoted military sources in the northern provinces as saying that the U.S. policy is to soft pedal any impression of aggressive allied maneuvering during the Paris peace talks.

A Hanoi broadcast promised more general offensives by the Viet Cong. It said "nothing can check the quick progress of the general offensive and widespread uprising in South Vietnam," and added that both the U.S. and the Saigon government had been demoralized by these offensives.

28 Injured When Bus Overturns on Route 81

NEW MILFORD, Pa. (AP) — A Greyhound bus skidded out of control and overturned on Interstate 81 in Susquehanna County near the New York State line, Friday, injuring 28 of 38 passengers.

Twenty-seven passengers were taken to Binghamton, N.Y., General Hospital, where three were listed in critical condition and one serious. One passenger was taken to the Medical Arts Hospital, Montrose, Pa.

The driver of the bus, identified as Charles Schrader of Flushing, N.Y., was in Binghamton General Hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

State Police said the bus was traveling north on the high-speed road, near the Great Bend Township interchange, when it went out of control, overturned and flipped into the southbound lane. A 14-year-old girl who declined to give her name said, "It was raining hard, and the bus seemed to be skidding from side to side. Then it went over on its left side."

State Police said the bus rolled over at least once, possibly two or three times.

Route 81 was closed to southbound traffic between Kirkwood, N.Y., and New Milford, Pa., until the wreckage was cleared. The rescue work was hampered by the heavy rain. The northbound lane was closed briefly.

Donnell E. Allen Jr. Named Head of State Sheriffs Assn.

SHERIFF ALLEN

HARRISBURG (AP) — Donnell E. Allen, Jr., of Warren County, has been elected president of the Sheriffs' Association of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Other officers elected Friday at the association's 46th annual conference here were:

John W. Hineman, Jr., Beaver County, first vice president; Frank E. Detrich, Bradford, second vice president and Robert B. Falter, Cumberland, secretary-treasurer.

The sheriffs are due to conclude their meeting Saturday.

Desegregation Plans Submitted By 14 Schools

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Human Relations Commission has received desegregation plans from 14 of the 17 Pennsylvania school districts it ordered earlier this year to tell how they would solve racial imbalance.

The latest plan came from the McKeesport Area School District in Allegheny County, which was among four districts which failed to meet the July 1 deadline.

Two districts, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, have been granted 30-day extensions due to the enormity of problems in those cities.

Another, Darby Township, Delaware County, is in the process of consolidating with another district, and has appealed the commission order in Delaware County Court.

Richard Anliot, director of education for the state commission said he probably would not make demands of Darby until its administrative revision is complete. This should come in another year, he said.

The commission has approved desegregation plans for Chester Township, Delaware County; Coatesville Area, Chester County, and Penn Hills Township, Allegheny County.

Other plans are to be considered at the next commission meeting, July 29 or 30, Anliot said.

New Camping Area Developed

SUNSET VALLEY CAMPING AREA

Thirty vacation camping sites are now available in the Sunset Valley camping area, just two miles up Yankee Bush rd., off the Starbrick three-lane, with a clearly marked sign at the gravel road. Free parking will be available the week of July 22, when the area opens for business. A swimming pond is planned for the '69 season. Now available are a fishing pond for children, six feet deep; tenting and trailer sites with electric and water hook-ups; disposal equipment in operation; picnic tables and fireplaces; flush toilets and hot showers in the bath house. There are 19 acres in all, including paths and trails for the outdoor lover.

Pennsylvania Happenings

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — So you want to be the boss? In Philadelphia there's a place that will teach you how — for free.

It's a one-day-a-month school operated by the Small Business Administration, a federal agency.

It's really not a classroom in the typical sense, although there is a blackboard for illustrations.

Clinton Kaplan, senior management assistance officer in the SBA's Philadelphia branch, says the day-long business clinic is loaded with talks, charts, slides and movies which explain the good and bad of small business — and being a boss.

Kaplan said SBA is aware that more small business failures occur in the initial years of operation, mainly because of poor management.

Success of the unique school can be measured, Kaplan says, only if it discourages some people from starting a risky venture, and encourages others to make a try in a new line.

Success, he insists, can be measured only in success.

Computerized Hospital Planned

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A fully computerized hospital?

That's the aim of Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Allegheny General Hospital.

The company and hospital said Friday they'll join in an effort to computerize the hospital to cut down on paperwork, human error and improve care for patients.

Miners May Name Lippi Union Head

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — A large Northeast Pennsylvania United Mine Workers of America district appeared set Friday to nominate for president its former head, August J. Lippi — now serving a prison term — over the objection of the international.

Representatives of 22 locals in District 1, which includes Luzerne and Lackawanna counties, unanimously supported Lippi's candidacy at a meeting here Thursday night. Nomination requires the support of only 15 of the district's 46 locals.

Lippi is serving a five-year prison term in Lewisburg federal penitentiary for conspiracy and bank fraud. He is to be released in March, 1969, about a month before a four-year presidential term would begin.

International UMW officials oppose the nomination because they say it is contrary to federal labor laws.

The acting president of District 1, Lester Thomas, says he cannot support Lippi "because our attorneys advise against it."

UMW President W. A. (Tony) Boyle, in a letter dated July 15, advised District 1 officers that Lippi's candidacy "can be a basis for challenging the entire District 1 election under the Labor Management and Disclosure Act."

Boyle enclosed a copy of a letter from the Justice Department which said "anyone who becomes associated with Mr. Lippi's candidacy or permits the same may be subject to the crime of conspiracy, in violation of the United State Criminal Code."

Results of the Thursday night meeting here indicated Lippi would be supported by all 46 locals in the district.

District 1 includes about 4,000 coal miners and is one of the largest in the UMW.

Local and national officials have indicated the issue will have to be settled in court.

Charged with Holdup Of 2 Erie Stores

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A 22-year-old Erie man was arrested Friday and charged with the armed stickup of two Erie stores within a five hour period.

Police charged Isaac Massey with the Thursday night holdup of Carman's Cut Rate Store and the Friday morning robbery of the Lake Restaurant. Police said Massey made off with $10 in cash from the restaurant and an undetermined amount of money from the cut rate store.

The program will handle some of the common things like keeping hospital records and tab on admissions and more intricate work like continual monitoring of a critically ill person.

Hopefully, if the patient took a turn for the worse the computer would sound an alarm, bringing medical help to his bedside.

The initial, first-year phase of the project is modest. It's simply to collect information on almost every aspect of what happens in the hospital's daily routine.

what happens to the patient from the time he's admitted to the time he's released.

But the long-range possibilities promise a new era in medical science and technology: a completely systematized hospital with all facilities interrelated.

For example, a computer data bank could provide a means for cataloging the health history of every patient admitted to the hospital. The computer could then statistically evaluate effectiveness in treatment of certain diseases or ailments.

And it's possible that pathological samples, like blood and urine, could be fed directly into the computer for analysis.

The result is the elimination of a lot of time — consuming paperwork and human error. It also means that a physician would have almost instantaneous access to test results.

For Westinghouse, the venture means a major new business enterprise. Marshall K. Evans, Westinghouse vice president for operations and services, said the company thinks it can ease growing concern about providing a coordinated system of health care and at the same time reduce hospital costs.

For the hospital it means lower operating costs, too, and a more efficient means of hospital management.

"The spectacular achievements in medical science and technology have led to requirements for more complex equipment, more efficient handling of medical data and more highly trained personnel at all levels," said William P. Snyder, president of the hospital's board of directors.

Overcrowding May Cause Social Ills

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Social ills that plague modern urban society may not be the fault of society — but nature's way of telling us we are overcrowded, researchers at Albert Einstein Medical Center said Friday.

The hypothesis resulted from studies being carried out on a large population of mice.

It has been observed in laboratories and in nature, the researchers said, that animal populations stop growing after they attain certain densities.

"Basic to our current study is the idea that animals possess mechanism for stopping reproduction after they reach certain levels of population," said Dr. Samuel J. Aji, director of research at Einstein.

The study may have important implications for man.

"It appears today that some of the human problems — overt violence, high infant mortality rates and mental illness — may be linked with the high urban densities that have come about in cities throughout the world," Dr. Aji said.

"We have only recently become aware that the population growth curves of certain American cities have exactly the same configuration as the growth curves of animal populations observed in nature and laboratories."

The scientists at Einstein will be watching the mice to see if the same social, physical and emotional ills so common in today's large cities are the same ones suffered in a city of rodents.

The project is headed by Dr. James A. Lloyd, a Nanticoke, Pa., native.

Dr. Lloyd's parents live at 20 Maple St., Fairview Heights, Mountaintop, Pa.

Former Warren Resident Develops Interesting Hobby

A former Warren man, Fred Myers, who with his wife, Marilyn, left here in the late 1950's, through his hobby has discovered a "whole wide wonderful world."

Fred was sent to manage the Provo Utah and Casper Wyoming plants that Hammond Iron Works purchased from Keyes Tanks. The couple resided on Brook street while in Warren.

Now with Jones & Myers Co. of Salt Lake City, Fred has been in metal working for 30 years and as a hobby creates metal sculpture in a home work shop.

One of his most outstanding pieces, "Man's Hope" expresses the artist's appreciation for the people who work in the United Nations, attempting to keep the lid on the world. When Ambassador and Mrs. Arthur J. Goldberg saw the piece, they borrowed it for exhibition in the sculpture garden of the U.S. mission in New York.

Mr. Myers only became interested in metal sculpture within the last three years and since then has produced an imposing amount of work, from delicate wall decorations to a 10-foot high modernistic conception of St. Christopher for an Episcopal Navajo Mission Church.

The artist must visualize before he can produce, and how "Man's Hope" was created is an interesting story. Myers related how he was led to its final form by a mystical treatment of the United Nations' origin. Eleven discs commemorate the eleven original members of the Security Council, which met October 24, 1945. By rearranging the numbers on this date, Myers was able to

Police Stake Out Pitt Schools In Attempt to Stop Vandalism

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Public safety Director David Craig said Friday police have been staking out some of the city's public schools in an attempt to stop vandalism.

Craig said some schools in all parts of the city are staked out and others are being closely patrolled as a result of increased vandalism at middle level and high schools.

Craig said one of these patrols was responsible for extinguishing a fire early Friday when vandals tossed a firebomb into Westinghouse High School in the predominantly Negro Homewood-Brushton area. A school board official estimated damage at less than $500.

"This special police attention is being paid to schools in all parts of the city, both in predominantly white and in predominantly Negro neighborhoods," Craig said.

A school board spokesman said the board asked for the police protection after vandals extensively damaged the Columbus Middle School on the North Side earlier this week.

Vandals also broke into the Baxter School in Homewood, Connelly Vocational Trade School in the Lower Hill District, West Liberty School in Brookline and Beechwood School.

Teen-ager Tries To Stab Guard

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — A teen age boy tried to stab a guard Friday at Mercer County jail with a knife he made from the lid of a garbage can.

State police said Harry Eliff, 16, of Sharon pulled the knife on Cecil Rodgers after he hit the guard with a shoe and asked him for the jail keys.

Former Sharon police chief Earl Holby and another jailer disarmed Eliff, who is serving a sentence for car theft.

Police said they are searching the jail for weapons that other prisoners could have made.

County 4-H Clubs Set To Compete

Members of Warren County 4-H Clubs will be vying for regional honors and awards when they compete in regional northwestern Pennsylvania demonstrations and public speaking contests at Brookville High School, July 22.

Falconer Man Charged With Drunk Driving

A Falconer, N.Y., man is in city jail following his arrest at 1:15 a.m. Friday.

Charged by borough police officer Richard White with driving under the influence of alcohol is Ben J. Stevens, 33, of 451 W. Main st., Falconer.

Officer White stated that a car operated by Stevens, traveling south on Market street, turned into the Pennzooil Station on Pennsylvania ave. and hit a pump.

The car, White said, was traveling in an erratic manner and was seen by the officer who was stopped for a traffic light at the intersection.

According to police, the car was bearing Alabama license plates and in checking with Jamestown, N.Y., police it was learned the vehicle was stolen from there.

The FBI is continuing the investigation.

On Thursday afternoon borough police Sgt. Roger Thelin arrested Keith Wayne Barnes, 32, of 318 United ave., Warren and charged him with burglary.

Police said the arrest stemmed from an incident which occurred Wednesday evening when Lester's Shoe Store on Liberty street was entered and a small amount of cash stolen.

Thelin stated the accused is an employee of the local store. Barnes was released after posting bail.

cultural or home economics demonstrations and speeches under supervision of local leaders and other interested people. High scoring individuals and teams from a local demonstration contest, held at the Youngsville Ski Lodge Tuesday, July 16, are eligible to compete in the regional contest.

Winners in the blue ribbon category of the regional contest then move on to even stiffer competition as they present their demonstrations at State 4-H Days at the Pennsylvania State University on August 5-7. The purpose of the educational contest, according to Associate County Agent Norman Perschke, is to help 4-H members develop self-confidence, increase skills in project work, and develop standards for presentation of demonstrations and speeches.

Members representing Warren County at the district event are Linda Carlson, Russell-Landerettes 4-H Club; "Color Planning My 4-H Wardrobe," Gerry Blystone, Pittsfield — Southwest 4-H Dairy Club; "She's the One," Annette Lauf-fenburger and Lynda Perschke, Warren — Cobham Combination 4-H Club; "Modern Magic."

SCS GUESTS

A group of scholars from several African nations, touring Warren County this week on a tour of the United States under a State Department Educational Travel Program, were guided around the county Friday to observe various conservation practices in the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Eight African Scholars Guests Of Soil Conservation Service

A group of African scholars from several nations of that continent who have been spending the past week in the Warren area, were guests Friday of the Warren County staff of the Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Prior to their trips during the day, the group attended a brief seminar in the Court House Soil Conservation offices. They were addressed by Lyle Cathcart, soil conservation work unit conservationist; Willis R. Ebner, soil conservationist, and John R. Reddick, secretary of the Warren County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Lyle Cathcart outlined the history of the soil and water conservation movement in the United States, which began in 1935. Willis Ebner discussed the study and design of various projects, such as ponds, water systems, terracing, and other undertakings which land owners may request.

Jack Reddick outlined the functions of local, county, state and national governments, and the areas in which they cooperate, especially in relation to conservation. He reviewed the establishment by the Commonwealth of Soil and Water Conservation Districts wherever counties desired them.

Through these organizations, which are under jurisdiction of the county commissioners, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Offices are set up to serve the citizens of the county.

Since Pennsylvania ranks 15th in the 50 states, in value of agricultural products, conservation of land and water is vital to its continuing prosperity and the problems of providing food for the ever-increasing percentage of the population which is urban.

Reddick emphasized it was entirely voluntary upon the part of any land-owner to become a "cooperator" with the County Soil and Water Conservation District and avail himself of the services of Soil Conservation Service specialists. The conservation districts have been established under laws enacted in 1945.

Following the briefing, the group visited camping areas, private recreation development projects, had lunch at the Three Flags Inn, visited the Hans Block farms beef operation, Elsenhower High School, the Carleton Curtis dairy, and other areas where conservation practices could be observed.

Most of the visiting Africans have studied or are presently enrolled in institutions of higher learning in Great Britain, chiefly on the graduate level. The group, accompanied by two escorts, is touring the United States under the Educational Travel Program of the U.S. State Department.

The entire group was entertained for dinner at the end of the day by Mr. and Mrs. Clair Proud Jr. at their home at 7 Center st., and Meph Ngol, student from Africa at Washington and Jefferson College.

Franklin Man Offers House To 'Hippies'

A Franklin resident, Joseph Ferson, has reportedly offered his four old houses on Egbert street in Franklin to the Anthropoedic Church group near Meadville.

Ferson, who recently met with several "hippies," said he offered the use of the four buildings if they would put them in good repair. He even stated he would purchase needed facilities.

The group indicated it was quite interested in Ferson's plan. Ferson has said he is tired of the treatment he is receiving in the area.

When Ferson and the hippies arrived in the neighborhood of the houses, local residents were quite upset. Mayor Guy Mammolite noted he would do everything possible to stop the hippies from locating in Franklin.

The houses have been vacant since they were moved onto Egbert street about eight years ago and the city has recently notified Ferson of intentions to tear the buildings down. A previous order had given Ferson 60 days to repair the condemned houses.

Shafer's Transportation Goals Boosted by Bill

Governor Raymond Shafer's plan to make Pennsylvania the "transportation hub of the Nation" took a giant step toward realization today with the introduction of legislation designed to create a Department of Transportation for the Commonwealth.

The bill, which will be introduced by Senator Richard C. Frame (R-Venango) will establish a single Department to oversee functions now vested in other departments, and bearing on highway, rail, water and air facility programs.

"This is an important part of the Administration's State Government reorganization program," Shafer said, "it is the second in a series of reform measures we will submit to the General Assembly. The first was the phase out of the Department of Internal Affairs."

"The decision to move ahead now was based on the General Assembly's decision to recess. My hope is that this measure will be thoroughly studied and acted upon when the Senators and Representatives reconvene."

The new Department will replace the present Department of Highways. It will also assume the following powers and responsibilities from the respective departments:

+Department of Revenue—all matters pertaining to licensing of operators, registration of vehicles, traffic safety and hazardous substances.

+Department of Commerce and Community Affairs—all relations, surveys and studies relating to mass transportation.

+Department of Military Affairs—the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, with special emphasis on airport planning, and development of new concepts in air travel.

+Navigation Commission for the Delaware River will also be transferred to the proposed new Department.

The proposed legislation is the direct result of a study conducted and recommendations made by Governor Shafer's Transportation Study Committee.

The Governor's Committee, headed by Leland Hazard, Pittsburgh, was considered the finest, most authoritative group in the field of transportation in the Nation. The Committee is currently developing a master plan for transportation in the Commonwealth.

"Transporting people and goods is of primary importance in this highly mobile age," Shafer said, "if Pennsylvania is to prosper, it must have quick and easy access to the booming markets of the East Coast and the Midwest."

"And if the Eastern Seaboard is to continue furnishing people, goods and services to the growing markets of the Midwest and West Coast, there must be a quick means of transportation to get them there. We believe that highway travel is in its renaissance, and we intend that Pennsylvania will be the central link in the systems which link all parts of this Nation together."

"In addition, we feel that with our present and potential air facilities, and the proposed expansion and improvement of our water and port facilities, the Keystone State can easily reach a new height in the shipping and warehousing industries."

"Our proposed Department of Transportation, which will incorporate all phases of travel, will do much to give us a united effort in the direction of attaining this new status for Pennsylvania."

which the week's cooking projects were taken. There were 35 young people; over 50 parents and friends attended.

At the close of the exercises everyone was served with punch and cake made by the young students.

Pennsylvania Electric Company sponsors Fun-on-the-Range throughout its 33-county service area in northern, northwest, west central and south central portions of the state.

The program originated in Towanda in 1949, as a service to the local community recreation program. It provided opportunity for girls, 12 to 18 years of age, to learn to cook, using the electric range, through a series of four participating classes. Penelec provides instructors for the classes, and in addition pays for food, cookbooks and other incidental expenses.

From the first class of 30 children in Towanda in 1949, it has rapidly expanded until this summer approximately 10,000 children in 110 communities are expected to enjoy this popular program.

ART BUCHWALD

Slow Torture by Torte

VIENNA, Austria.—There are many people in Vienna who consider the State Opera House the most important building in the city. But there are others of us, mostly on the highest cultural levels, who would trade three performances of "Fidelio" and two performances of "Lohengrin" for one plate of schlag at Demel's, the grand-mother of all Viennese pastry shops.

Demel's is to Austria what the Tower of London is to England. Inside the hallowed mirrored walls are displayed the treasures of the country—a mingling of custard, strata upon strata of chocolate cakes, bottomless lakes of fruit-flavored mousse, tunnel after tunnel of apple strudel and glaciers of ice cream and frozen tarts. It has been said that if Austria had an Aga Khan, he would be weighed each year at Demel's and given the equivalent in whipped cream and strawberry icing.

The first thing I saw on entering Demel's was a large marble stand filled with homemade candies. On top of the stand was a handwritten sign advertising the specialty of the day. It was strawberry mousse with vanilla cream, gilded almonds and hazelnuts, sherbet and assorted candied fruits.

"A strange man," Si Bourgin, an international food patrolman, told us, "would quail at such a dish, but the average Austrian woman can eat 10 of them."

As my eyes became used to the light, I saw a room to the right with about 20 tables. The decor was late 19th century, and very little had been changed since Emperor Franz Josef used to pop in for an apple turnover. In the center of the shop was the high altar, filled with pastries and gugelmut.

I started to shake uncontrollably, and Bourgin had to slap me in the face to bring me back to my senses.

The women who wait on people are known as the Sisters of Demel's. They are dressed in shapeless black smocks and have all taken vows never to serve any pastry unless it has been made with butter. Tattooed on their arms are the words: "Death Before Shortening."

As I sat at a table and prepared to eat six pastries, I heard a low rumbling, groaning and moaning. "What's that?" I asked Mr. Bourgin. "That's what is known as the Demel lament. Each afternoon the women come here and start moaning. 'Oh, I can't eat this—it's so fattening. Oh, I can't take another bite, I shouldn't! Tomorrow I will eat nothing all day. I swear this is the last Sacher Torte I will touch for a month!' They never stop eating while they're talking. You could compare the Demel lament to a Gregorian chant."

"What kind of people come here?"

"The Viennese aristocracy, tourists, beautiful women and people who are trying to forget their unhappy childhoods. You must never talk to a beautiful woman at Demel's. The way to strike her fancy is to send over a pound of butter with your compliments. If she accepts it you can then formally introduce yourself."

Stock Market Tumbles Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Computer and other glamor-growth issues were hit hard as the stock market took another tumble Friday.

Volume dropped to 14.63 million shares from 17.42 million Thursday.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 4.03 to 913.92, a moderate loss, reflected a fairly slow retreat by the blue-chip section of the market.

The high-multiple glamor stocks told another story. IBM dropped 13 points to 345, Avon Products 15 1/2 to 126 1/2, Polaroid 3, Burroughs 8 1/2, Honeywell 5 1/2, National Cash Register 3 1/2, and Control Data 6.

A disappointing report on earnings was cited for the decline in Avon Products.

The computer stocks seemed especially upset by word that a forthcoming article in Fortune magazine would say that many computer companies "may have to struggle to reap profits from expanding revenues."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.6 to 343.2, with industrials down 2.2, rails down .9, and utilities down .8.

Of 1,544 issues traded, 939 fell and 407 rose.

Occidental Petroleum was the most-active stock, off 3 at 46 1/2 on 600,800 shares. Second most-active was its merger partner, Hooker Chemical, which dropped 4 to 67 1/2.

Standard Oil (New Jersey) third most-active, rose 2 1/2 to 79 1/4.

Ford, down 1 at 54 1/4, was boosted among the most-active issues by a single block of 94,000 shares.

Watch his big smile that says "Thank You"

When the boy comes to collect...

Your newspaperboy makes it his business to collect at a regular time—convenient to you.

That way he comes expected and you can be ready for him.

You can help, too, by having the money there so he won't have to come back. He'll appreciate that.

Because this boy is in business. He depends on the full collection of his route for his full profit. And repeat calls for him mean extra work with no extra profit.

Hence, next time the boy comes by to collect, be ready—and watch his big smile, which says "Thank you."

Lane Blames Managers For Failing to Adjust

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It's inflexibility—not inability—that costs major league baseball managers their jobs, says Frank Lane, a man who once took part in the simultaneous firing of two field bosses.

Lane said the manager's role is overrated anyway.

"A manager gets too much credit when he wins and too much hell when he loses," Lane said.

"The No. 1 reason why managers are fired is their failure to adjust to a changing situation or to adjust their style of play to the material they have," Lane said in an interview published in Monday's Miami News.

Lane was in Miami on business in his current role as special assistant to personnel director Harry Dalton of the Baltimore Orioles, a club which recently dropped Hank Bauer.

Gene Mauch of Philadelphia, Houston's Grady Hatton and Eddie Stanky of the Chicago White Sox are other managers recently unemployed.

"Stanky lost sight of the kind of team he can win with—pitching, defense and speed," Lane said. "With Stanky's kind of team he led the American League most of last season and lost out in the last series of the season. During the off-season he traded away speed for older, slower fellows with potentially stronger bats. He broke up the kind of team he could win with."

As for Bauer, Lane said the firing was another example of failure to adjust.

"When a manager begins losing with a formerly good hitting team that has a batting slump, he can't just sit back, continue to employ the same tactics of attack and excuse himself by using that cliché, 'you can't hit for 'em.' He should adjust to the situation. He should hunt, hit and run and try for one run more."

As general manager of the White Sox, Cleveland, St. Louis Cardinals and Kansas City, Lane hired and fired his share of managers.

He was involved in the only instance of two managers being hired and fired simultaneously—when as Cleveland general manager in 1959 he swapped Joe Gordon to Detroit for Jimmy Dykes.

Lane says certain managers are ready-made for certain teams and cited Gordon at Kansas City.

"Gordon did a bad job for me in 1959 at Cleveland," Lane said. "We should have won the pennant. Then I inherited him at Kansas City and he did a fine job as manager."

"We had fringe major league ballplayers and he got the maximum out of them by keeping them loose and not fearful they might be shipped out to the minors the next day. Bauer would do a good job with a young expansion club from which nothing is expected and I think he'll wind up with one."

Dr. Fager and Damascus Meet for Fourth Time

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dr. Fager and Damascus will meet for the fourth time, Braulio Baeza and Manny Ycaza will try for a helicopter double in a pair of $100,000 races and 142-year-olds will run for $180,850 at Hollywood Park on Saturday's busy racing program.

The meeting of Dr. Fager, winner of three straight, and Damascus, the 1967 horse of the year, was assured Friday when both were entered for Saturday's 80th running of the $111,400 Brooklyn Handicap at Aqueduct.

Dr. Fager will try to match Exterminator's feat of 1922 by winning the Brooklyn with 133 pounds. He will be giving away five pounds to Damascus, 130, who is coupled with the front-running speedster, Hedevar, 112, as an entry.

Dr. Fager holds a 2-1 edge in three previous meetings, including a victory in the July 4 Suburban Handicap.

Although Dr. Fager is listed as an odds-on 4-5 choice in the morning line and Damascus is 3-1, there is strong support for Bold Hour, who beat Damascus last week in the Amory Haskell Handicap at Monmouth Park and will carry only 119 pounds. Out of the Way and Mr. Right are others highly regarded in the field of nine in the 1 1/4-mile race.

If Damascus wins, first money of $72,000 will put him in the million dollar class. Baeza, who will ride Dr. Fager and Ycaza, Damascus' jockey, are scheduled to leave by helicopter for Monmouth Park immediately after the Brooklyn ride in the $100,000 guaranteed Sorority Stakes. This is a six-furlong dash for 2-year-old fillies.

Baeza is due to ride unbeaten Big Advance in the Sorority and Ycaza is scheduled to be up on Lynne's Orphan, the Hollywood Lassie winner. Process Shot, winner of two stakes, is also undefeated and highly respected in the field of eight.

The track guarantees a purse of $100,000 and at least $60,000 to the winner. Each filly carries 119 pounds. Sonny Werblin's Process Shot is the 2-1 morning line choice.

Rigney Next Giant Manager According to Rumor Mill

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney of the California Angels will resign at the end of the season and return to San Francisco to succeed Herman Franks as manager of the Giants, the Los Angeles Times reported Friday.

Quoting a "responsible source," the Times said Franks has notified the Giants he will retire after the season unless the Giants win the National League pennant.

Reached before leaving for Chicago Thursday, Rigney said, "I have not talked to anyone in an official capacity about the possibility of returning to the Giants. I have enough trouble trying to get this club (the Angels) into the first division next year, without worrying about next year."

Giants owner Horace Stoneham added that "we have no plans for a new manager at all at this time."

Rigney managed the Giants for four years starting in 1956 and was fired by Stoneham in June 1960 when the Giants were in second place. Although he has been manager of the Angels since they were organized in 1961, he has continued to live in Walnut Creek, near San Francisco.

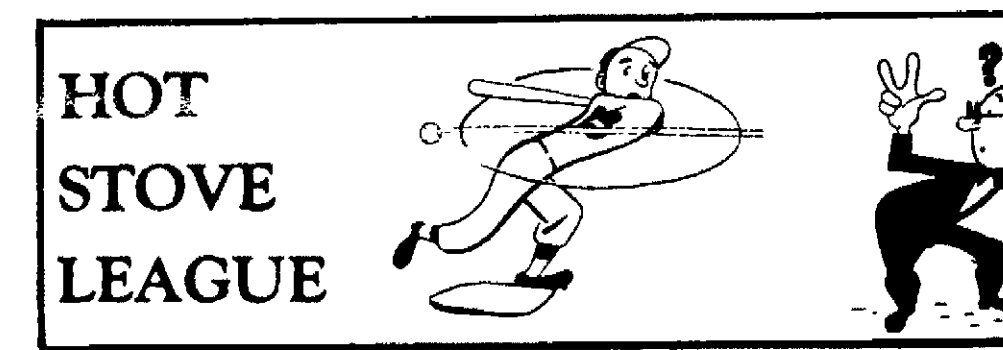

Franks, who lives in Utah, where he has extensive business interests, has said he is getting tired on the baseball grind.

"Change is good for everybody," he said from St. Louis, where the Giants are playing the Cardinals. "I'll resign if the Giants don't finish first."

The Giants have finished second in three years under Franks.

Under Rigney the Giants finished third twice and sixth twice.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE

Struthers Grabs Two

Struthers Wells picked up two wins from the Moose Club in Borough Cadet play. The opener, a make-up game from last month saw Dave Dunn pitch a two-hitter and strike out twelve batters in leading his team to a 12-1 victory.

Dave Dunn, Andy Bonavita, and Bob Selan provided the hitting punch for Struthers with a double each. John Andrews belted a homer for Moose as Nollinger took the loss.

In the second game, Struthers took a 9-5 decision. Gordon Bennett was the winner and Miller took the loss. Bob Selan knocked a double, and Chris Lareau ripped a triple for the winners.

For Moose Club, Owens had a double, Bill Urbanski rapped a triple, and Jim Miller powered a homer.

Weldon Wins 7-4

Weldon and Sons defeated Morley and Sandberg by a 7-4 count. Billy Kibby picked up the mound victory while Paul Gibson suffered the defeat. Kibby and Stuart Pulliam belted doubles for Weldon. There were no extra-base hits for the losers.

Zips Nip Betts

The Post Office Zips slipped by Betts by a 5-4 score behind John Belleau's two-hitter. Dave Sharp and Belleau smacked doubles for the winners. Chuck Loomis took the loss.

Chevy Drops VFW

Johns Chevrolet beat the Clarendon VFW 14-8. Earl Belcher picked up the win and rapped a triple in his own support. Glen Carlson also had a triple for Jones and Rick McCullen added a double. Mark Maines took the loss for VFW. He received support from M. Stithinger and D. Walder who each cracked a two-bagger.

Components Take Win

Seagertown Components slipped by El Tronics by a 6-4 score. Randy Edwards was the winning hurler and R. Scalise was charged with the loss. Edwards and Leo English led the winners' hitting with a double apiece. D. Briggs provided the El Tronics' power by ripping a triple and a home run.

Lions Lick Boulvers

The Sheffield Lions bested Sugar Bowl and Schoonovers 18-4. Terry Moldovan was the winning hurler and Steve Sanders suffered the defeat. Tom Fitzgerald and Terry Shrader pounded out doubles while Kris Wiegler bombed a three-bagger.

Warren Car Cops Pair

Warren Car Company picked up a pair of wins in County Cadet play during the last week. One game featured a no-hit pitching performance by Gary Sodek in a 6-2 win over Seagertown Components. Sodek clobbered a double to lead the hitting for the winners. Honhart was the losing hurler.

In the other contest Warren Car edged PDM 5-4. Gary Sodek picked up the win with a sixteen strikeout job. Rick Tomassoni aided the winners by cracking a round-tripper. Knupp pitched and hit a double in the loser's cause. Warren Car now stands in first place with a 10-4 record.

Brown's Take Playoff

Brown and Young's defeated Warren National Bank of Youngsville 8-0 in a playoff in the Co. City Bantam League. Dan Johnson picked up the win with a neat no-hitter and John Titus was tagged with the loss. Johnson helped his own cause with a double and received aid from Brad Johnson, who also knocked a double. It was the eighth win without a defeat for Brown and Young's.

HOWARD SHOWS 'EM HOW

Frank Howard, the Mighty Monster of the Washington Senators, shakes his bat just before the game with the New York Yankees in Yankee Stadium. Frank showed good early foot this year, but is optimistic about the rest of the season. The six-foot, seven-inch outfielder is having one of his better years.

Erie Teams Win Games In Betts District Tourney

It was all Erie last night in the second annual Clifford Betts district championships at Carbone Memorial. Koehlers colared the 400 Lounger in the opener to send the first Warren squad into the losers bracket, on a 2-0 count and in the second game Hunter's Inn nipped the Warren Beverage, 1-0.

Superior pitching was the highlight of the night's activities. Carl Hultman of the Koehler nine zeroed in on the 400 team and came up with a one-hitter. It was his pitching foe, Tom Kibbie who got the lone hit in the fifth.

An unearned run in the second and Tom Herschberger's round-tripper in the fourth spelled defeat for the local entry. Kibbie, in taking the loss, gave up only five hits and went the distance.

Jim Tinelli apparently didn't throw his little black book away on Warren hitters, as he tossed a three-hitter at his old teammates in securing the win. His lone run came in the fourth on Joe Gaeta's and John Hummel's back-to-back doubles off losing hurler, Jim McMeans.

Today's opening game will start at 10 a.m. and will continue throughout the day and all Sunday afternoon.

McLain Tries for 31 Wins; Howard Tries to Bat .275

NEW YORK (AP) — Denny McLain is speeding along the same trail that Lefty Grove blazed in 1931 when he won 31 games for the Philadelphia Athletics.

The outspoken young man from Detroit has an 18-2 record, matching Grove's winning total at the same calendar date 37 years ago.

Grove won No. 19 on July 19 and added No. 20 on July 25. He also had lost two for a 20-2 mark. McLain will try for No. 19 Saturday in the second game of the Tigers' important series with the Baltimore Orioles.

Grove had a 16-game winning streak during that great year, finally snapped in mid-August by the St. Louis Browns and Lick Coffman. McLain now has won nine in a row.

Dizzy Dean, who won 30 for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934, is the most recent pitcher to hit the 30 mark.

Hal Newhouser hit the 29-9 mark for Detroit in 1944. Mel Parnell was 25-7 for Boston in 1949 and, of course, Lefty Gomez won 26 for the New York Yankees in 1934.

McLain stirred up quite a fuss in Detroit earlier in the year when he blasted some of the Tiger fans as front runners and said they might have been partly responsible for the club's failure to win last year.

NEW YORK (AP) — If all it takes is a .275 batting average, 33 home runs and 90 runs batted in, then Frank Howard may win a Triple Crown after all.

A month or so ago, when the 6-foot-7 slugger of the Washington Senators boasted 22 homers, 47 RBI and a .342 average, people were starting to talk about him as a possible Triple Crown winner. That was shortly after Howard captured the baseball world's fancy with a fantastic streak of 10 homers in six games.

"That was a streak of a lifetime, to be honest with you," Howard said Thursday before a night game with New York.

"I'm sure that will be the best streak I'll ever go on. Really, I'd describe myself as a .275 hitter who should hit 32 or 33 home runs and drive in around 90 runs. I'm just now hitting my peak years and I feel I'm capable of hitting between 35 and 45 homers."

From June 10, through Wednesday's game, Howard hit only .175 with four homers and 18 RBI and his season average skidded to .280—nine points above his lifetime mark—while the Senators lost 25 of 32 games.

"I think there have been times when I've pressed, but I'm now starting to relax a bit," the big fellow said.

"I'd say I've lost about 15 hits because of the oversight most teams use against me and I've gotten very few fluke hits."

"I'd probably be a lot better off if I hit a few balls the other way to right field. I wish I had the ability to guide the ball, but my biggest problem has been making contact. If I make contact I figure I've done my job."

Matchick Leads Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Tom Matchick's two-run homer with two out in the ninth inning gave the American League leading Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The rookie shortstop's second major league homer capped a three-run ninth inning comeback by the Tigers, who had been held to two hits by Wally Bunker and Eddie Watt over the first eight.

After Jim Northrup led off the ninth with a single and Al Kaline walked John O'Donoghue replaced Watt and Norm Cash bunted into a force at second.

Moe Drabowsky replaced O'Donoghue and got Bill Freehan to hit into another force at second as Northrup scored. Matchick then slammed a 3.2 pitch into the upper right field seats, pinning the Orioles with their third straight setback.

Repos Stops Reposing

CHICAGO (AP) — Roger Repoz's first home run in more than two months, a two-run blast in the sixth inning, carried the California Angels and George Burdette to a 2-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday night.

Repos' 10th homer of the season, and first since May 14, came after Jim Fregesti had reached on an error by Sandy Alomar.

National League

Pinson and Perez

CINCINNATI (AP) — Vada Pinson blasted a three-run homer and Tony Perez slammed a two-run shot, powering the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night.

Pinson's fourth homer of the season came after Richie Allen's second error of the game and highlighted a four-run eighth inning that wrapped up the contest.

Philadelphia got both its runs off starter George Culver, 7-9, who was knocked out in the sixth.

Jones Homers for Mets

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cleon Jones slammed a two-run homer in the first inning and the New York Mets held off the St. Louis Cardinals for a 4-2 victory Friday night.

Bud Harrison hit loser Larry Jaster's first pitch for a double. Jones then hit his 11th homer of the year off the facade in left.

Winner Al Jackson drove in another run in the fourth inning. Phil Linz opened the inning with a single and went to third on Ed Kranepool's single. Jackson's fly got Linz home.

Braves Made Their First Challenge

ATLANTA (AP) — Rookie right-hander Bob Moose pitched a four-hitter and the Pittsburgh Pirates cooled off the hot second-place Atlanta Braves 2-0 Friday night.

Moose, 4-6, struck out six and walked four in dealing the Braves only their third loss in the last 12 games.

Willie Stargell gave Moose one run in the fourth inning with his 16th homer over the center field fence. The Pirates had taken a 1-0 lead in the second on consecutive singles by Donn Clendenen, Gary Kolb and Bill Mazeroski off loser Ron Reed, 9-5.

The victory was only the third for Pittsburgh in 15 games.

The Braves made their first challenge in the bottom of the fifth, when Tommie Aaron walked and Bob Johnson followed with an infield single. But Moose struck out Marty Martinez to kill the threat.

Jackson's Homer Wins

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Reggie Jackson belted a three-run homer in the first inning Friday night, propelling the Oakland Athletics to a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Jackson tagged 10 s.e.r Jim Merritt, 5-10, for his 16th homer after singles by Rick Monday and Sal Bando in the first.

Odum allowed five more hits before giving way to Diego Segui in the ninth.

The third of Bert Campaneris' four straight hits, a sacrifice and Bando's single gave the A's an insurance run in the sixth.

Beard and Fleckman Lead PGA at Halfway Mark

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Steady Frank Beard moved into a tie with rookie Marty Fleckman for the halfway lead at 136 Friday and big Jack Nicklaus eliminated himself with a cluster of bogeys in the 50th PGA golf championship.

The Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio, rated the world's top pro, three-putted the final green for a 79 and 36-hole score of 150.

He thus failed to make the cut which reduced the field from an original 167 to low 70 shooters and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday, which will be seen on national television (ABC).

Meanwhile, two of the game's blue-ribbon stars — Doug Sanders and Arnold Palmer — broke extended slumps and moved into contention.

Sanders, dressed in azure blue from his turtle-neck shirt to his patent leather shoes, carved out the best round of a torrid day marked by frequent blowups — a three-under-par 67 for 139, which put him just one stroke off the pace.

Palmer, his screeching army coming out of the trees and woodwork, slashed out a 69, despite a bogey on the treacherous closing hole, for 140.

The Latrobe, Pa., millionaire, without a major victory since the 1964 Masters and never a winner of the PGA, was tied at this even-par figure with Lee Trevino, the irrepressible little U.S. Open champion of Mexican descent, towering George Archer, Johnny Pott, and Texan Miller Barber.

Trevino also bogeyed the last hole — the "impossible hole," the pros call it, yet registered a scrambling 71. The 6-foot-6 Archer four-putted the 15th hole after leading the tournament briefly and finished with a 69.

Pott, 32-year-old pro tourist for 11 years, needed only two for the final two holes to tie for first place but double-bogeyed the 17th for a second round 70.

No other players in the field, made up of the golfing gypsies and the stay-at-home teaching pros, was able to equal or match par for the first two days of battling with the heat and rough of the 7,096-yard, par 70 Pecan Valley course.

Tied at 142 were an assistant club pro from Seattle, Wash., Don Bles, 69-73; Dan Sikes, the golfing lawyer from Florida, 70-72; and 48-year-old Julius Boros, two-time Open champion, 71-71.

Beard, who started the day two strokes back of the 24-year-old Fleckman, played the course in even par 70 while Fleckman, a pro less than a year, double-bogeyed the last hole for a 72.

Billy Casper, the year's leading money winner, came to the No. 18 needing to par for a 68. He hit his two-iron tee shot — a lay up shot — into the creek which crosses the fairway some 240 yards from the tee and finished with a 70 for 144.

"This is a stupid hole, an impossible hole, no hole at all," Casper said. "I don't know why we even play it."

Because of the creek, players are forced to lay up with their tee shots — using long irons normally — and then play another long iron to the green.

Another casualty besides Nicklaus was Tom Weiskopf, the handsome young Ohion whose $129,000 in winnings makes him second only to Casper in the money standings, who shot a disastrous 82 for 169.

"I'm just tired, I didn't want to play here," he said dourly.

After finishing his round, Nicklaus had to be coaxed to go to the press interview room. "Everything just went wrong," he said. "I did everything bad."

Ramsay and Kosloff Discuss Philly 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three months ago Jack Ramsay said emphatically, "My coaching days are behind me." Now he is coach of the National Basketball Association's Philadelphia 76ers.

What happened to change Ramsay's mind?

76ers' owner Irv Kosloff said two years ago when he denied Alex Hannum the combination job of general manager-coach, "I believe the general manager and coach should be held by different individuals." He now has given his general manager a general manager's job.

What changed Kosloff's mind? These two questions, and how the 76ers would operate without 7-foot-11 Wilt Chamberlain, highlighted Ramsay's first news conference since the club Sunday confirmed Ramsay's appointment as coach.

The 43-year-old Ramsay was one of the nation's most successful college coaches at St. Joseph's Pa. until he quit for health reasons three years ago. His teams in 11 seasons had won 234, lost only 72. He had developed an eye condition which doctors said resulted from the emotional strain of coaching. Today he says he's physically sound.

"Why did I take the job as coach?" said Ramsay. "The reason is obvious. We needed somebody to coach this team. We couldn't get the man we wanted."

"Rather than give the job to an individual in whom we didn't have great confidence, we decided I'd do it this year. We are continuing our search for a permanent coach."

Kosloff confirmed that giving the dual job to Ramsay was a move born of expediency. The owner said he planned to hire a business manager to help Ramsay with the general managers duties.

Eagle QBs Drill Hard

READING, Pa. (AP) — Four quarterbacks carried the Philadelphia Eagles through a pass protection drill at their National Football League training camp Friday.

The players sharpened techniques on pass protection for their tossers behind the passing of Norm Snead, John Huarte, John Hunkeler and Benji Dial. The drill was the second session of a morning - afternoon workout. In the morning, the players honed blocking, tackling and running techniques.

A couple of more players came to camp Friday, boosting to 51 the number on hand on the Albrecht College campus. Some 33 regulars are scheduled to report Sunday, bringing the squad to full strength.

Jim Scott Races Torino At Stateline Tonight

Stateline's one-third mile clay track may be a far cry from the high banks of Daytona International Speedway, but Carlant's Jim Scott has the same results on such.

Scott, winner of two Stateline New Car features this season, journeyed to Daytona in February of this year to try his hand at the super-speedway and although he didn't bring home a checkered flag he proved he is a driver with varied ability.

The 31-year-old auto parts dealer posted a sterling eighth place finish in the ARCA 300-mile race in February, his rookie appearance at the "Big D." He finished just seven laps behind winner Andy Hampton to earn $600.

Now, driving the same Julian Buesink prepared Ford Torino that he drove at Daytona, Scott is eighth in the current point standings at the Busti, N.Y. track.

Frazier-Quarry Title Match In the Works

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Closed door discussions are underway here concerning a proposed title fight between heavyweights Joe Frazier of Philadelphia and Cal. Florida's Jerry Quarry, it was disclosed Thursday.

Yancey Durham, adviser of Frazier, recognized in New York and four other states as the world champion, has met with Promoter George Parnass and Jack Kent Cooke, owner of The Forum, and with representatives of the rival Olympic Boxing Club.

New York's Madison Square Garden is also a major bidder for the projected 15-round fight.

A spokesman for The Forum quoted Durham as saying he was "very interested" in a Parnass-guaranteed $250,000 to Frazier.

Quarry, who lost to Jimmy Ellis for the World Boxing Association version of the title, has been offered $150,000.

FLECKMAN EARLY LEADER

Marty Fleckman plays it cool during the PGA tourney now being held in San Antonio, Tex. Marty took the first round lead in the PGA when he shot a four-under-par 66. He finished the first round two strokes ahead of Frank Beard.

Rec League Play Has Two Close Ones, One Real Runaway

Rec League play last night found two close contests and one real runaway. Sub Shop slipped by Surf Club 14-12 while Local 469 edged DeVore's 3-2 and Rex Chain Belt trounced R. W. Norris 17-8.

Sub Shop came through in the top of the seventh inning to score four runs and then held Surf Club in the bottom of the stanza. Mike Davis started off the inning with a one base slug followed by a single by Joe Huber.

Skip Armstrong then stepped to the plate and bombed a three-bagger bringing in Davis and Huber to tie up the game. Barney then singled driving in Armstrong and then scored on two throwing errors as Surf Club got shook.

Larry Berenfield and Don Baldensberger snatched triples for the win along with Huber, Mike Davis cracked a three-bagger and Chuck McDermott smashed a homer. Huber went three-for-four at the plate.

The win was picked up by Don Baldensberger, Mark Anderson clubbed a pair of doubles for the losers while Chuck Krus went three-for-four in the losing battle.

Jack Colvin squeezed Local 469 past DeVore's while Huber met the debut head-on from the mound. DeVore's totaled 6 hits and 2 errors while 469 snagged 8 hits and 3 runs.

Larry Dumbin cracked a triple for the win and Colvin added a double. Warner gave the losers a homer in vain and Stanton smacked a three-bagger.

Rex Chain Belt made short work of R. W. Norris as Ralph Lee hurled the win and Dave Eagle suffered the loss.

Dick Whitting and Bob Wallis gave the winners round-trippers while Lee cracked a three-bagger. Dean Barnett, Whitting, Jerry Karsina and Art Bailey all snagged doubles, with Bailey connecting for two. Tilley smashed a homer for the losers.

Labor Stalemate May Cut TV Of All-Star Game

CHICAGO (AP) — The labor deadlock between the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers may interfere with television coverage of the College All-Star game Aug. 2.

The 73-day walkout by the IBEW is seriously threatening the Democratic National Convention scheduled for Aug. 26 in Chicago and may force a shift in the location of the convention.

The College All-Star game is played in Soldier Field and scheduled to be televised nationally by ABC-TV.

An ABC spokesman said Friday that the IBEW walkout "potentially can affect coverage of the game."

Browns Drop Two Vets Because of Racial Clash

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns' owner Art Modell said Friday he placed two veterans on waivers because of a racial incident and took the action "in the best interests of both the club and the players."

Waivers were asked early this week for guard John Wooten and defensive back Ross Fichtner, both starters. The waiver deadline is 4 p.m. Monday, and both players would become free agents by that time if not picked up by another National Football League team.

Modell, NFL president, said both Fichtner and Wooten "blundered in going to the press" over July 1 golf tournament in Ashland, Ohio. Fichtner handled arrangements for the tournament.

Wooten, a Negro, said no Negroes were invited to play as they had been in previous years. He accused Fichtner of prejudice.

Fichtner said no racial slurs were intended and added the size of the tournament had been cut down. He did say those connected with the affair were unhappy because Negroes invited in the past had not socialized with white players.

The arguments got widespread publicity in the Cleveland newspapers.

Modell, attending a rookie scrimmage between the Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers in Latrobe, Pa., said placing both men on waivers "was a very distasteful thing to do."

"We've had harmony on this club... just as much if not more than other clubs," he said. Once the story was headlined, Modell said the positions of both players became unworkable.

Wooten, 31, is a five-year veteran and a Pro Bowl selection. He was a sixth-round draft choice from the University of Colorado in 1968.

Fichtner, 29, has been with the Browns eight seasons since his quarterback days at Purdue. Modell said he has had no offers from other NFL teams for either player "and I don't know if there will be any."

Wooten could not be reached for comment on Modell's decision.

tion. Fichtner said he wanted to continue his pro career and "was shocked at the outcome of this situation."

"I understand the Browns' position," he said. "I never really expected something like this to happen, and I'm awfully sorry I won't be playing for the Browns this year."

DAVE ANDERSON

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK, July 19 — His gray suitcase was packed, as it always has been at this time of year, but Sam Huff wasn't going to training camp.

"I'm just going home for the weekend," he was saying at his desk in J. F. Stevens where he is the sales manager of men's and boys' slacks and suits, synthetic blends. "I come up from Washington on Mondays and stay here during the week, then I go back on Fridays but we've bought a house over in New Jersey and we'll move in soon. That will make it easier."

On his gold tie, a 70 w's embroidered in silver thread, a number he made famous with the New York Giants before he was traded in 1964 to the Washington Redskins.

"Announcing my retirement last season was the hardest thing I've ever had to do," he said, "but I didn't realize I was out of football until I didn't get a contract in the mail, and until I didn't get a letter about when to report to training camp. No notification of any kind—I really was through. But with the years I'd worked in here during the off-seasons, I had a good job waiting for me."

Although his salary was higher with the Redskins, his heart has remained in New York.

"And looking back," he said, "the thing I can't forget is the feeling that the old Giant players had for each other. Very few teams ever attain that feeling. I guess the Packers have it now, but not any more than we did. It was like a love, a deep masculine love for each other, being together so long, enjoying each other's company—Robustelli, Mo, Y.A., Kat, Grier, everybody."

Suddenly, following the 1963 season, he was traded with George Seales to the Redskins for Andy Stynchula, Dick James and a draft choice.

"In the championship game against the Bears, the defense hadn't let them cross midfield, they beat us with interceptions," he recalled, "but Albie broke up the defense. I never could understand that."

Albie Sherman, the Giant coach, also traded Dick Modzelewski that year to the Cleveland Browns.

"I tried the day I was traded," Huff said. "I can't get 100 per cent of the bitterness out of me, and I guess I never will. But when I reported to the Redskins, I didn't open my mouth. I figured I'd show them before I told them."

He showed them the charisma that had made him the first of the glamorous players on defense.

"Nobody knows more about the pro type defense, the 4-3, than I do," he said. "I was raised with it under the genius of defensive coach Tom Landry, our defensive coach then, my rookie year. I lived in the Excelsior Hotel, where Tom lived, and every night he'd ask me down to his room to talk football. For hours, I didn't realize it then but I was getting tutored by the master."

"I felt Tom built the defense around me. If I'd tell him that I couldn't physically do something, he'd change it because his defense revolved around the middle linebacker. I had an enviable job. We made defense famous. Once the offense went three games without scoring a touchdown and we won two. Another time, we scored 21 points and somebody said Summerall must've kicked seven field goals."

Around that time, the Giant defensive unit was being introduced before a game, instead of the offensive unit.

"The offensive unit had been getting booed when they were introduced," he recalled, "and I remember Gifford saying, 'That's all right, Sam, you get the cheers, I'll get the money.' That was Gifford."

Many of Huff's memorable games involved his performances against the premier fullbacks, Jim Brown and Jim Taylor. "Brown was such a great sport, such a nice guy, it was hard to play against him," he said. "I'd hit him my best shot and he'd say, 'Nice tackle, Big Sam,' and I'd think what a nice guy he is and the next play—flow, he'd come flying. Taylor was different. He'd tell you how he was going to jam the ball down your throat."

Thinking about Taylor provoked the ultimate compliment from Huff.

"He was a mean guy, a 100 per cent football player. He'd have been a great linebacker, because a linebacker has to be mean, that's why he's in that position."

But now Sam Huff is a suave salesman, almost the antithesis of the boy who grew up in the Jamison No. 9 Coal Camp in West Virginia.

"Football has meant everything to me," he said. "It was a lot of blood, sweat and tears, but that's what made it all worthwhile."

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer

SAVES YOUR SCOOPS FOR ICE CREAM SUNDAES

An amazing thing about golf is the way that attempts to do one thing often produce just the opposite results.

For instance, let's assume you want to make sure that you shot gets up into the air. The normal reaction would be to scoop under the ball, as the golfer is doing in illustration #1.

Actually, this scooping of the shot is more likely to produce a very low driving shot than it would a high flyer. Scooping moves the lowest part of the clubhead path to a point somewhat behind the ball. The club hits the ground and either scuffs the shot or bounces up into side of the ball and skulls it.

To obtain height, strike downward into the ball (illustration #2). This produces maximum backspin so that the ball will rise readily from the lofted clubface.

A familiar site to all at Chautauqua Institution is the Miller Bell Tower, a structure which was built in memory of Lewis Miller, co-founder of the institution. Its bells ring out the hour and three times daily a program of sacred music is played. See feature on pages 10 and 11.

SOCIAL Wanderings by Marion Honhart

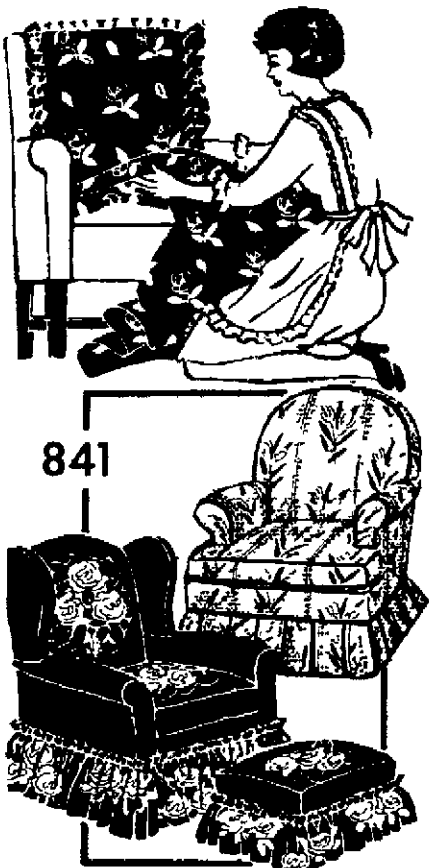

THE REV. ALAN HEARL, Mrs. Hearl and their two children, David and Timothy, have returned from a very happy and relaxing three weeks vacation, which began with attendance at the annual national convention of the Bethel Covenant denomination in Chicago. The Rev. Hearl and David, age 3, drove out to the midwestern metropolis, while Mrs. Hearl and Timothy, who was only 3 weeks old at the time, took a plane. From Chicago the Hearls then drove to "The Land of 10,000 Lakes" where, in Minneapolis the Rev. Hearl officiated at the wedding of his cousin to Mrs. Hearl's cousin—the bride and groom first met at the Hearls' wedding six years ago—Other Minneapolis highlights included a tour "from an insiders viewpoint" of the State Supreme Court with Mrs. Hearl's uncle, C. Donald Peterson, as Associate Supreme Court Justice, as their personal guide—They also visited another uncle, the former mayor of Minneapolis, P. Kenneth Peterson. The next vacation stopping place was 10-Mile Lake, near Walker, Minn. There the Hearls had a fabulous time in a lovely home full of books and antiques with a beautiful white sandy beach leading down to the lake right from their own front door—They stayed there for four days, enjoying the beauty of their surroundings as well as the beauty of the weather. They loved this spot so much that they have already made tentative arrangements for this same lovely vacation home next year, after the 1969 church convention which will again be held in Chicago. Homeward bound, they had another overnight visit with members of Mrs. Hearl's family in Rockford, Ill.

WOMAN'S CLUB BRIDGE was held at the home of Mrs. James Frantz this Thursday with four tables in play and an average score of 42: 1st place, Mrs. Arthur DeLuca and Mrs. Shurl Glass 51½; 2nd place, Mrs. George Sarvis and Miss Frances Schimmelfeng 51; 3rd place, Mrs. Melvin Ahlgren and Mrs. Mary Cullinane 46; 4th place, Mrs. Donald Conaway and Mrs. William Fuellhart 42. The group will play bridge next Thursday at the home of Mrs. S. W. Blackman, 400 W. 5th avenue.

A REUNION WAS HELD SUNDAY at Shipman's Eddy by Mr. and Mrs. John Baird and daughter with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Caton and son, visiting from Pittsburgh. Among those present at the affair were Mrs. Edna Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. William Bjers, Mr. and Mrs. William Welsh and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rorer and sons, all of Warren. Mr. and Mrs. James Brink of Chatham Center, Pittsburgh, were also present.

MINIATURES: The St. Joseph Rosary Club will meet on Monday evening at 7:30 in the downstairs social rooms of the school. All interested women welcome. Rosaries are being made for the Armed Forces in Vietnam.

33rd Bible Conference Opens At Camp Findley

The 33rd annual Bible Conference of the Erie Conference of the United Methodist Church will be held at Camp Findley, Findley Lake, N.Y., beginning on Monday evening, July 29, at 7:45 and continuing through Sunday evening, August 4. The Bible Conference, under the direction of the Rev. Dr. H. Ray Harris, pastor of the Kinder Memorial United Methodist Church, Jamestown, N.Y., has been in continuous operation by the former Evangelical United Brethren group, bringing to this area outstanding Bible expositors and speakers, music leaders, and missionaries, and other types of leadership. The program attracts ministers, their families, and an increasing number of adults.

The speakers will include Rev. George E. Gardiner, Pastor of the Christian Tabernacle, Dayton, Ohio; Dr. Leslie B. Flynn, Pastor of the Grace Conservative Baptist Church of Nanuet, N.Y., for the past 19 years; Dr. Don A. Brown, Director of the Reading Center at the State University of New York, at Buffalo, who will hold a one-hour series each afternoon Tuesday thru Thursday, July 30 thru August 1, on the "Psychology of Christian Living"; Miss Lela Pierce, who has served in both the home and foreign fields, namely Kentucky and Borneo, where she spent the last thirteen years doing pioneer evangelism. On Saturday night, August 3, and on Sunday afternoon, August 4, Mrs. Gert Behanna, "The Late Liz" of San Antonio, Texas, will give two of her sparkling, and stimulating addresses.

The Rev. George E. Gardiner, the pastor of the Christian Tabernacle of Dayton, Ohio, has had phenomenal success in his ministry. This church has developed a number of unusual features in the eight years of his pastorate; a Christian Day School is being operated; a full-time counselling service, with a trained psychologist, is on duty. The Rev. Gardiner will be speaking every morning at the Bible Hour at 10:45 a.m. from the 73rd Psalm, on the general theme, "Faith in the Fiery Furnace of Affliction." He will alternate with Dr. Leslie B. Flynn as the evening speaker. The Rev. Gardiner will speak Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings and on Sunday morning at 9:45 a.m.

Dr. Leslie B. Flynn, pastor of the Grace Conservative Baptist Church of Nanuet, N.Y., for the past 19 years, is the author of nine books and many articles which have appeared in Christian Life Magazine, Power, etc. He, among other accomplishments, taught Journalism from 1951 to 1966 at Nyack Missionary College, and has been teaching Pastoral Methods for several years. Gert Behanna, "The Late Liz", is one of the most widely known and widely heard Christian women of our time. Her best-selling autobiography, "The Late Liz" was written under the name of Elizabeth Burns. Newsweek described her appearance at the Yale University Chapel: "The youthful congregation strained to hear, and Gertrude Behanna spoke as a personal witness to the change that Jesus Christ can make today in the hearts and minds of those who turn to Him." She will be speaking only twice, on Saturday evening, August 3 at 7:45 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, August 4 at 2 p.m.

Dr. Don A. Brown, director of the Reading Center at the State University of New York at Buffalo, will be the featured lecturer in the fields of psychology and practical Christian living. He received his doctorate in education from the University at Oregon, where he worked in the school Psychological Services Division of DeBusk Memorial Center, supervising the remedial education clinic. He presently holds the rank of associate professor teaching courses in advanced techniques of diagnosis and reading difficulties.

Musicians for the 7-day Bible Conference will be the Rev. Edmund Mills, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, who has been a missionary, evangelist and song leader. As a member of the Overseas Crusades, Rev. Mills has served in the Far East and Latin America, most recently concluding a preaching mission in Vietnam, the Philippines, Hong Kong, and Formosa. He will be leading the congregational singing and directing a Bible Conference Choir.

Assisting in the music will be the Rev. and Mrs. W. Raleigh Harris, pastor and wife of Emmanuel Church, North East, Pa. This past year they played for two weeks for Evangelism-in-Depth in Lima, Peru. They will be heard nightly on the organ and piano in the Tabernacle.

Other musical groups will be singing during the week, notably, the Male Quartette of the Buffalo Bible Institute, which will be heard on Thursday night.

Missionary Day will be observed on Friday, August 2, with Miss Lela Pierce of Grand Valley, speaking at the special service at 1:30 p.m. under the auspices of the Erie Conference Women's Society of Christian Service. Miss Pierce received her training at Houghton College, and at Nyack Missionary Training Institute. She has served in Kentucky and also since 1953 in Indonesia. She is the product of a fine Christian home, and one of the rural churches of our Conference.

Tidioute Baptist Women Make Booklets

At the recent meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Tidioute Baptist Church, booklets were made for the children of its various missions. The booklets consisted of clippings from children's Sunday school papers. Each booklet was completely waterproofed so they will be more durable.

The Society met at the home of Mrs. Krug Cyphert on Monday, July 2, at 8 p.m., with 11 women present. Mrs. Dale Storer, reporting on women of the Bible, which was used as devotions, told of Rahab, the woman God took from a dung hill. Mrs. Arthur King completed the devotional hour with prayer.

Two letters were read from missionaries telling of their work in the field. The first was from the Rev. and Mrs. Warner of Kentucky, the other from Miss Clara Crumb. She is at home on leave in Niobe, N.Y., from her missionary work in Africa.

Mrs. George Nelson will be hostess for the Society at its next meeting on Monday night, Sept. 3, at 8 p.m.

The earliest runic alphabet—a curious lunar script—introduced in Denmark about 250 had 24 letters. Originally stones marked by runes were erected in village graveyards as memorials or tombstones.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the woman who complained about a sitter who helped herself to a third of a pie and ate large holes in the company ham. I agree a sitter has no right to do this but there are two sides to every story. May I speak for the thousands of baby sitters who get so hungry they almost pass out?

I have sat in homes where a cockroach could starve to death. I realize the people I sit for don't owe me a banquet, Ann, but a growing girl who runs after kids for five or six hours needs something to keep her strength up.

A bag of potato chips and a soft drink is not going to bankrupt anybody. If Mrs. Housewife would set something aside for the sitter she wouldn't have to worry about being eaten out of house and home. — MISS REASONABLE

DEAR MISS: Thank you for your suggestion on how Mrs. Housewife can best protect her company ham and guest pie against the famished sitter. I agree a sitter is entitled to a little refreshment, and a thoughtful lady will provide it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was impressed with the answer you gave "Ceiling Zero." I only hope the dumb bunny listens to you. If the kept women in this country knew what their married sweethearts really thought of them there would be a lot less back street action.

Three years ago I suspected my husband had a friend on the side. He denied it for two years and then I ran into him -- checking into a motel one Saturday afternoon. She was outside in the car. I had dropped in to get some ice cream. When they saw me they'd have liked to die. My husband handed her money to take a taxi and then followed me home in his car. We had a frank talk and I told him he could have a divorce if he wanted it.

Did he accept my offer? He did not. He said she was nothing but a plaything and he would never marry her -- that she wasn't fit to shine my shoes much less fill them. We both had a good cry and he begged me to forgive him and let him prove what a good husband he could be. I agreed to try it.

The following morning the woman called and asked me to forgive her. She said my husband had told her I was an invalid and she was shocked to see me walk into that place.

So you see, Ann, liars play it both ways. Please publish this. It could be a post-graduate course in life for your readers. — HOLDER OF THE DIPLOMA

DEAR HOLDER: Are you listening, students?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please help me, Ann. My folks are too old and too square to know anything about love. Besides, all they do is fight. I am 15 but could pass for 19. I can buy beer in any tavern without showing an ID card. My problem is I have fallen in love with a very handsome guy who is an actor. Neil is 23 and I'm sure he'll be a big star some day. He wants me to marry him but we have no money and he isn't working at present. I could go to work and tide us over until Neil gets a good part. Don't tell me I'm a foolish kid because love is for the young and this is the real thing. Give me some encouragement. — JONQUIL

DEAR JONQUIL: How lucky can a girl get? You're only 15 and you can buy beer any place and now you've found an out-of-work actor who wants to marry you! Two months of boardinghouse beans will shake the rocks out of your head, Kiddo. Tell the guy "Good-bye and good luck."

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Simplicity Is Keynote To Women's Good Grooming

With more women working today than ever before, more women are facing the problems of managing a home and career. While it's a real challenge to organize your life so that you make time for children, house-keeping and some social activities after a full day on the job, the women who does it best is most likely the one who also maintains a first-rate appearance.

How does she do it? Mornings filled with fixing breakfast, getting youngsters off to school and sharing bathroom time with a shaving and showering husband don't leave much time for careful application of make-up, a check for showing slips, or sewing on that missing blouse button. Yet some working women always look great!

The secret is planning for simplicity. Particularly when it comes to make-up, hair and skin care, the fewer items it takes to create the look you like, the more quickly the "great look" can be accomplished each day.

"Let's talk dry cleaning"

By Howard Jarvis

VACATION DAYS are here or just ahead for many of us and a lot of planning has already gone into preparations for the trip. There was the old debate about where to go, to mountains or seashore, East or West . . . to visit relatives and friends or just to see the U.S.A. Then the car had to be given a checkup, road maps were spread out and studied and a route mapped out . . . oftentimes reservations made ahead. Now you're just about ready to go. But what about your clothes for the trip? Good vacation planning means giving a lot of thought to what you'll wear, while you travel and when you get there. Plan for daytime fun and evenings out, for whatever might come. Once you decide on your vacation wardrobe, check to make sure it's ready to travel . . . clean and freshly pressed.

Did you ever figure what's the point of packing a freshly pressed blouse or dress or suit when it's only going to get wrinkled in the suitcase? Well, a freshly done garment will resist wrinkling a lot better than one which is already wrinkled and lifeless, and it will shake out any acquired wrinkles more readily. So sort out your vacation wear now and send it to us, so you'll be ready for the road. You can always rely on prompt dependable service by the most modern methods when you send all your dry cleaning to us.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS:

Since it's the time for screen doors and swinging gates . . . here is a little word of caution that may save lots of pain and heartaches.

Most of us have one of those stretchy, coil springs on our screen doors or maybe that backyard gate. Of course, when the door or gate is opened, the spring stretches and gets pretty tight.

Did you ever consider what it would hit if that spring broke or came off the hooks holding it to the door?

Well, it could give you a nasty pop across whatever part of your body was at that level.

Now here's the safety point: Look carefully where you have those springs and put them low where they won't hit anybody in the eyes if they break.

Also consider the height of the little ones that go through that door or gate. Let's not let anything happen to their beautiful little faces.

Love,
Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I just thought of something that saved my dinner!

Absentmindedly, I added water instead of milk to white sauce.

I pushed the panic button, then saved the day by adding powdered milk. Makes pretty good gravy, too.

Jean

DEAR HELOISE:

Every time I washed my hair I used to dread fumbling around mixing the cream rinse while my head dripped.

So I took an old plastic shampoo bottle and pre-mixed a quart of my favorite hair rinse.

I set the bottle in the basin or bathtub and let the warm water run over it while I am washing my hair. Then I give it a couple of shakes and pour the warm mixture on my hair with no fuss whatsoever.

300 Youths to Attend Boy Scout Camp

OBSTACLE COURSE

For the most part exercise and physical fitness is emphasized at Camp Olmsted. One method of keeping physically fit is a workout on the physical fitness trail. The trail is a miniature obstacle course with ropes to climb, walls to scale, and hurdles to jump. The course requires balance, endurance and coordination to complete successfully.

It is expected more than 300 youths will attend Boy Scout Camp Olmsted during the four weeks ending August 3.

Over 20 Boy Scout troops will camp with their own leaders during the summer season.

"Scout camping," it is explained by camp director John Kloos, "is a vehicle through which the purposes of the Boy Scout movement are brought to fruition in the lives of boys. This program properly conceived, planned and carried out under leadership of the right kind of men, will achieve the purpose of Boy Scouts of America."

The 1968 summer program is again directed by Thomas E. Sprowls. Of the staff of Camp Olmsted, nine members have received camp school training through the National Council, either at Schiff Reservation or at Camp Onteora, N. Y.

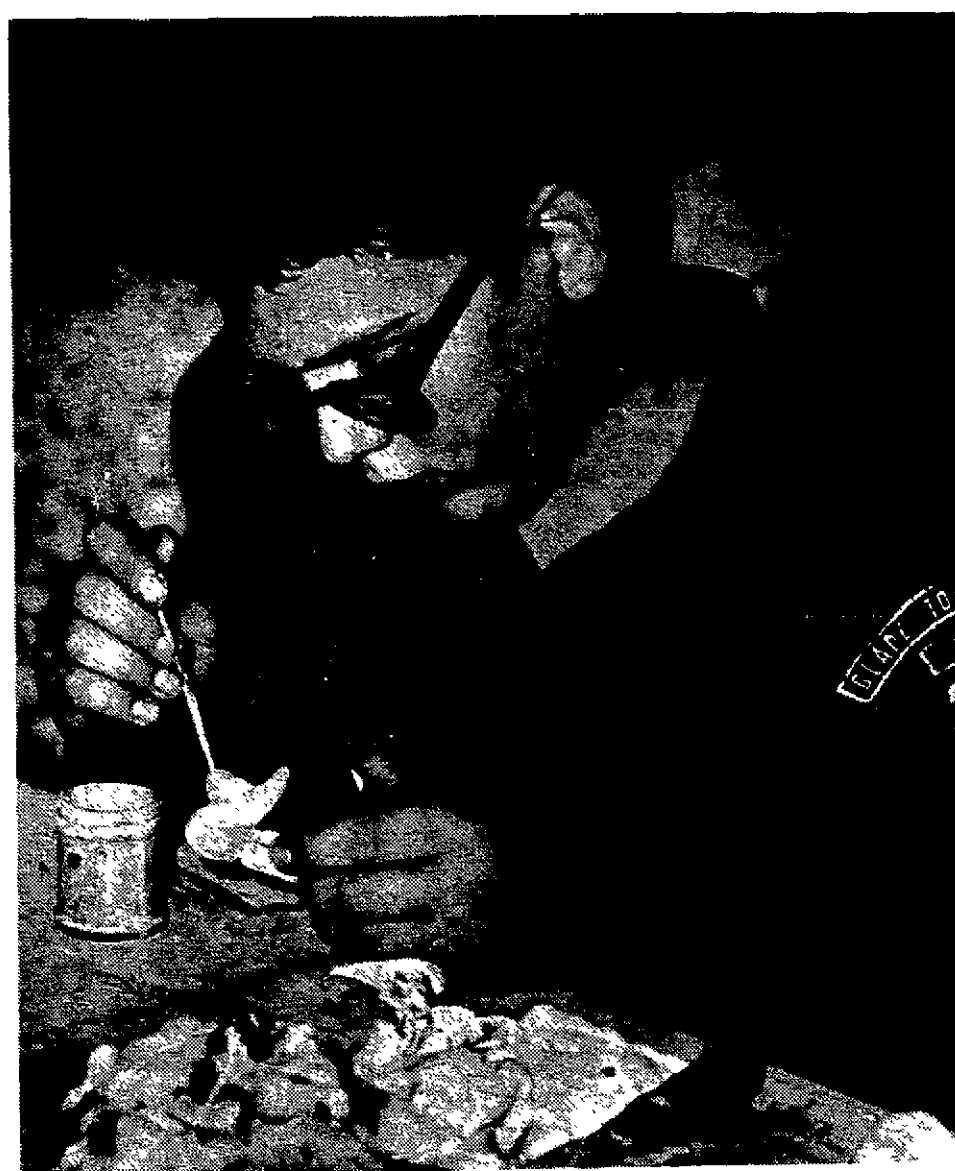

In addition, Sprowls notes, almost all Junior staff members have been trained at the Buffalo Area 3-Bar training camp or at Schiff Reservation.

This year there are two weeks of provisional camping, beginning July 21 and 28. Thomas Socha is provisional leader. He will accept boys whose troop will not be in camp, as well as Scouts who want to attend camp for a second week. Rate for provisional camping is $25.00.

Program features of the camp this summer include an additional "action archery" range and new "out-post" camping program.

Each Scout and his patrol and troop will plan their program activities prior to arriving at camp. These include such activities as swimming, boating, archery, rifle, mosquito, campfires, inter-troop competition, totin chip, hunter safety program, out-post camping and many second and first class skills and merit badge programs.

A chaplain service is provided for camp, as well as medical re-checks when a boy arrives at Olmsted.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Art and craft classes are among the more popular activities during the Scouts' week at camp. Jim Nuhfer, Troop 37, Glade Township, sponsored by the Irvinedale PTA works on a project that could very well earn for him another merit badge.

During the week in camp, many Scouts earn merit badges and advance a rank in Scouting.

Other awards many Scouts earn are the mile swim, hunter safety, Pennsylvania Game Commission conservation award, Scout life guard, "scalp patch" for participation in many activities, and the 1968 project award.

Visitors are welcome and invited to see the camp and its program in action. Parents are encouraged to visit on Wednesday evening, which is parents' night.

Bruce McFate is camp aquatic director this summer. His assistant is Ross Bryan. Keith Weigel is back again as a member of the aquatic staff.

The conservation area is directed by Robert Knecht, assisted by Alan Martin. Richard Hofer is Scoutcraft director, assisted by George King.

Mrs. Jean Sprowls is camp first-aid. Gary Barker is dining hall steward. James Redfield is in charge of the Trading Post and handicraft.

Arnold Allen is aiding commissioners to assist service units each Sunday at check-in time.

Miss Genevieve Jordan is camp cook, and Mildred Danuski assistant cook at Camp Olmsted this summer.

This year two troops from Pittsburgh and one from Philadelphia will be camping at Olmsted, in addition to local Scouts.

BEST OF ALL

Best of all, at Scout camp there is time for companionship. Time to sit around a campfire with buddies your own age and discuss the many things young men find to be fun, challenging and enjoyable. These Scouts are from Lottsville's Troop 21. They are, left to right, Mike Allen, Ronald Gustafson, Douglas Jordan, Dennis Chase, Gene Holmes and Elwood Alexander.

Don't you be careless.
Please—only you can prevent forest fires.

SWIM TIME

Swimming is another popular activity at the Scout camp. In the water Ray Smith, right, and Dave Mazar get some special instruction in

"drown proofing" from staffer Bruce McFate. The course requires the boys to learn how to float.

CONSERVATION CLASS

At Camp Olmsted there is an opportunity to learn. Involved in a class on conservation, Alan Martin, center, asks Scout staffer Bob Knecht, left, "are the plants really only this big?" The other two scouts involved in learning about conservation are Dave Blick, right, and Dave Drum, taking notes.

RELAXATION

Scouts also have time to themselves during the day's busy schedule. Relaxing in their tent between activities Reed Alexander and Craig Allen discuss an upcoming swimming period.

LARRY STOTZ

Freeways and Aesthetics

By LARRY E. STOTZ

Man's passion for driving from one point to another in the fastest possible time has led to the proliferation of freeways. The German concept of the freeway has been Hitler's autobahn, originally built as a wide avenue for conquest and the achievement of Lebensraum.

But the Germans today have not neglected other modes of ground transportation in favor of autobahns. Their railroads are modern, and their fast trains carry full complements of passengers. Bus service has not been neglected either.

In our own country we are in danger of "putting all of our eggs in one basket." It is next to impossible to make a meaningful journey by public transportation, other than by plane. Our passenger-carrying railroads are a mockery of what modern rail transportation should be. And our bus lines haven't taken up the slack created by the wholesale dropping of passenger trains.

With the family car the idol of modern ground transportation, and many railroads now engaged in the trucking business, the freeway builders have enthusiastic backing by a large segment of the population. But there is a very real danger that the highway builders may attempt to meet the transportation needs of this country by concentrating all transportation resources into a single gigantic effort that will leave other forms of ground transportation further weakened.

Freeways are a major threat to aesthetics and the conservation of natural resources. A national policy for the protection of public parks, recreation areas, wildlife and waterfowl refuges, and historic sites against highway encroachment was established by Congress two years ago. Section 4 (f) of the Department of Transportation Act bars the Secretary of Transportation from approving the use of such lands for any federally aided transportation project "unless there is no feasible and prudent alternative."

Last month the House of Representatives' Committee on Public Works approved legislation that could in effect open America's parks, refuges, and historic sites to freeway builders. A few of the parks and historic sites now threatened by the freeway builders are on the French Quarter riverfront in New Orleans, Overton Park in Memphis, Brackenridge Park in San Antonio, redwood parks in California, Lake Tahoe's Emerald Bay, Jonathan Dickinson State Park and Audubon Island Bird Sanctuary in Florida, and Staten Island green-belt in New York City.

If the provisions in this legislation are accepted by the President and Congress, no public recreation areas, monument, park, historic site, wildlife or waterfowl refuge in the United States will be protected from possible invasion by highway builders.

Even historic sites and parks in the nation's capital would not escape inroads by the freeway builders if proposed interstate routes in the District of Columbia are constructed. Threatened areas include the Potomac Gorge and palisades, the historic Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, the Georgetown Historic District, Glover Archbold Park, Spout Run Parkway, Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, the Lincoln Memorial, the Tidal Basin with its cherry trees, Anacostia Park and Kingman Lake, and a green-belt connecting Civil War fort sites.

The proposed legislation would also threaten road beautification by eliminating the penalty 10 percent cut in federal highway construction grants for non-compliance with billboard and junkyard regulations set forth in the Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Good roads and a pleasing landscape are not incompatible if those who design and build the roads have a sense of aesthetics, a reverence for the land, and a respect for historic sites. But as long as the American motorist is obsessed with the idea of getting from one point to another in the fastest possible time, there will be more and more freeways and the possibility of more encroachment upon America's dedicated outdoor recreation resources and historic sites.

Kane Plans

Art Show

KANE — Plans for an art show here July 26 under direction of John Bloomquist of Kane, sponsored by the Kane Chamber of Commerce is attracting widespread interest with exhibits expected from a four-county area.

The entry date is July 25 with the showing and judging July 26 at the Carlson building on Greeves street and the adjacent C of C office area and directors room.

The C of C board voted funds for prizes and materials and Bloomquist is making business and industrial contacts for purchase prizes.

There will be four classes of art work to be presented: professional oils, amateur oils, lighter colors such as pastels, crayons, black and white drawings, pens and charcoals. The professional category applies to persons who have sold one or more of their paintings and who have had three years of painting. The amateur listing will include those painting more as a hobby.

Your Horoscope By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 20, 1968

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—Seek those elusive clues to higher achievement. You are in line for benefits, but must work for them. You can act effectively when you have the will.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Do not become excited if people will not cooperate; just sit down and talk things over. And, remember, it's important to think BEFORE you act, and to include all factors in your consideration.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—There may be something about your job that causes worry or anxiety. Try not to yield to such stresses. Take obstacles in stride and just do the best you can.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—A good period for long-range thinking and plans. Review carefully before launching unfamiliar ventures, but do not hesitate to try for a new achievement.

LEO (July 24 to August 23)—You should have new ambition and incentive now. An interesting business transaction could prove profitable. Personal relationships are under fine influences.

VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Curb erratic tendencies. With your capable and unobtrusive manner, guide your activities through constructive channels. Emphasize your best skills.

LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Don't rely on "hunches" now. Instinct only aids when backed by knowledge, study, experience, data; Seek facts.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 22)—To be successful now, ideas or plans need not be on a large scale. Settle things quickly that lend themselves to an average day and to your talents; take others carefully, slowly.

SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—This is a day which calls for calmness and good judgment. Do not let unexpected situations ruffle you and do not let yourself be pushed into undesirable "corners."

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—If the past week put a drain on nerves and stamina, ease up to recoup energies; ambitions will brighten, too. You can rise above fatigue surprisingly well.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—What you seek may not be available NOW, but earnest trying will bring eventual reward. Stress your sense of values and aim only for the worthwhile.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—Matters on the immediate agenda should be taken care of as expected. Give a little where it would ease tensions, but not at the expense of principles.

YOU BORN TODAY are well-endowed mentally, are often athletically inclined, too; can attain in anything to which you give due attention. You love tradition, travel with ease, make new friends readily. Your ability to turn a difficult situation into a harmless or even a funny one is delightful. You are idealistic, enthusiastic and endowed with keen foresight. Don't rebel because others do not always see eye to eye with you. Birthdate of: Francesco Petrarca Italian poet; Natalie Wood, cinema actress.

How to Keep Well By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

DRUGS FOR HYPERTENSION

Many drugs are available for the treatment of arterial hypertension. As a young physician, I had little to offer except sedatives and words of wisdom centering about "take it easy." The surgical removal of certain nerves on each side of the vertebra (sympathectomy) enjoyed a brief period of popularity.

Today's drugs are most effective. A variety are available to fit individual needs. Reserpine, for example, is widely used in mildly or moderately severe hypertension. It is marketed under many trade names and used in combination with other drugs, including the oral diuretics. Its possible side effects include depression, nasal stuffiness, and diarrhea. These symptoms disappear when dosage is reduced or the drug is discontinued.

Oral diuretics of the chlorothiazide type have also proved to be extremely useful. These products encourage the kidneys to excrete more salt, water, and potassium. Salt has very little effect on normal blood pressure, but tends to increase the level among persons with or susceptible to hypertension. Diuretics used alone may be effective in mild hypertension but when the reading is higher they often are combined with other remedies.

Diuretics should be used with caution by persons with gout because these drugs tend to aggravate the condition. This is minimized by using gout remedies such as probenecid or allopurinol. Loss of potassium may also lead to muscle weakness or cramping.

Guanethidine (Ismelin) is a more powerful anti-hypertensive. Altho valuable when the tension is high, it must be given under the supervision of a physician. Time and experimentation determine the most practical dosage. A disturbing side effect is dizziness on arising from a sitting or prone position. Dosage adjustments often are necessary and, for this reason, the user is taught to take his blood pressure at home. Other modern remedies include hydralazine, pargyline, and alphamethyldopa. All are considered good, especially when other preparations fail.

TOMORROW: Pampered Feet.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

SMALL HEMORRHOIDS

A reader writes: When hemorrhoids are small and only cause occasional discomfort, is it advisable to have surgery or just learn to live with them?

REPLY

Good rectal hygiene will go a long way in minimizing your problem. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on hemorrhoids which explains treatment in more detail.

'EAR' FOR CONFESSION
PITTSBURGH (AP)—The "listening ear" has been established by the Lutheran Church here, enabling people to telephone ministers at the church to confess anything about which they may feel guilty.
 For the most part, the ministers say nothing, but just listen until the caller gets it off his chest.

'IN PROCESS'

The Reverend Dr. Trevor Watt, professor of theology at Canisius College, is moderator of the new series, "In Process," heard weekly on WBEN-TV (Ch. 4). Guests who appeared on the first broadcast will return on Sunday, July 21, at 11:30 a. m. They are the Very Reverend James Kogler, Allan Canfield, Ray Michaels, Mrs. Leonard Scruggs, Mrs. A. L. Danforth and Miss Jane Shister. Selected articles from national magazines will be discussed on the program of July 21.

Chautauqua Movement Nearly 100 Years Old

By TRUDY STANTON

During the early 1870's, American citizens, especially those of the middle class, had a strong desire for education. It was during this period that colleges and coeducational schools were started. The year 1874 marks the beginning of the Chautauqua Movement.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, under the leadership of John Heyl Vincent and Lewis Miller, designed the Chautauqua program to broaden the education of the Methodist Sunday School teachers. In its formative years, Chautauqua was referred to as the Sunday School Normal Assembly.

The first Chautauqua sessions were in the form of 'camp' meetings programmed especially for teachers of religion. In order to keep out picnickers and curious onlookers, a gate fee was introduced. Those persons who truly wished to discover what Chautauqua had to offer were willing to pay the fee which would in turn help to finance the upkeep of the grounds.

The word Chautauqua spread far and wide. The annals of the first season showed that twenty-five states and Canada were represented. Such enthusiasm was shown in the first few years that the institution expanded its program to include everything from lectures to sporting activities.

Influential persons were drawn to the area, many giving lectures in the Hall of Philosophy or the Amphitheater. Among those who visited Chautauqua were Jane Addams, a social worker and reformer; many representatives from the Temperance Convention; William Sherwood, noted pianist of Chicago; and several presidents and presidents-to-be including Theodore Roosevelt and Ulysses S. Grant.

The oldest group formed in Chautauqua was the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle (CLSC). The members of this group centered their activities around reading and became known as the oldest book club in America. The club which is still a functioning part of the institution sponsors weekly book reviews by authors or authorities on literary subjects as well as sidewalk discussion sessions.

The members of the CLSC and other people associated with the Chautauqua Movement knew that there were many people outside the grounds who could benefit from what Chautauqua had to offer. Because of this strong feeling, the Chautauqua circuit was formed. It consisted of a tent which covered a series of attractions and moved from town to town. Included features were musicians, lecturers, art exhibits and CLSC discussions. This circuit remained in operation for two generations, then slowly died.

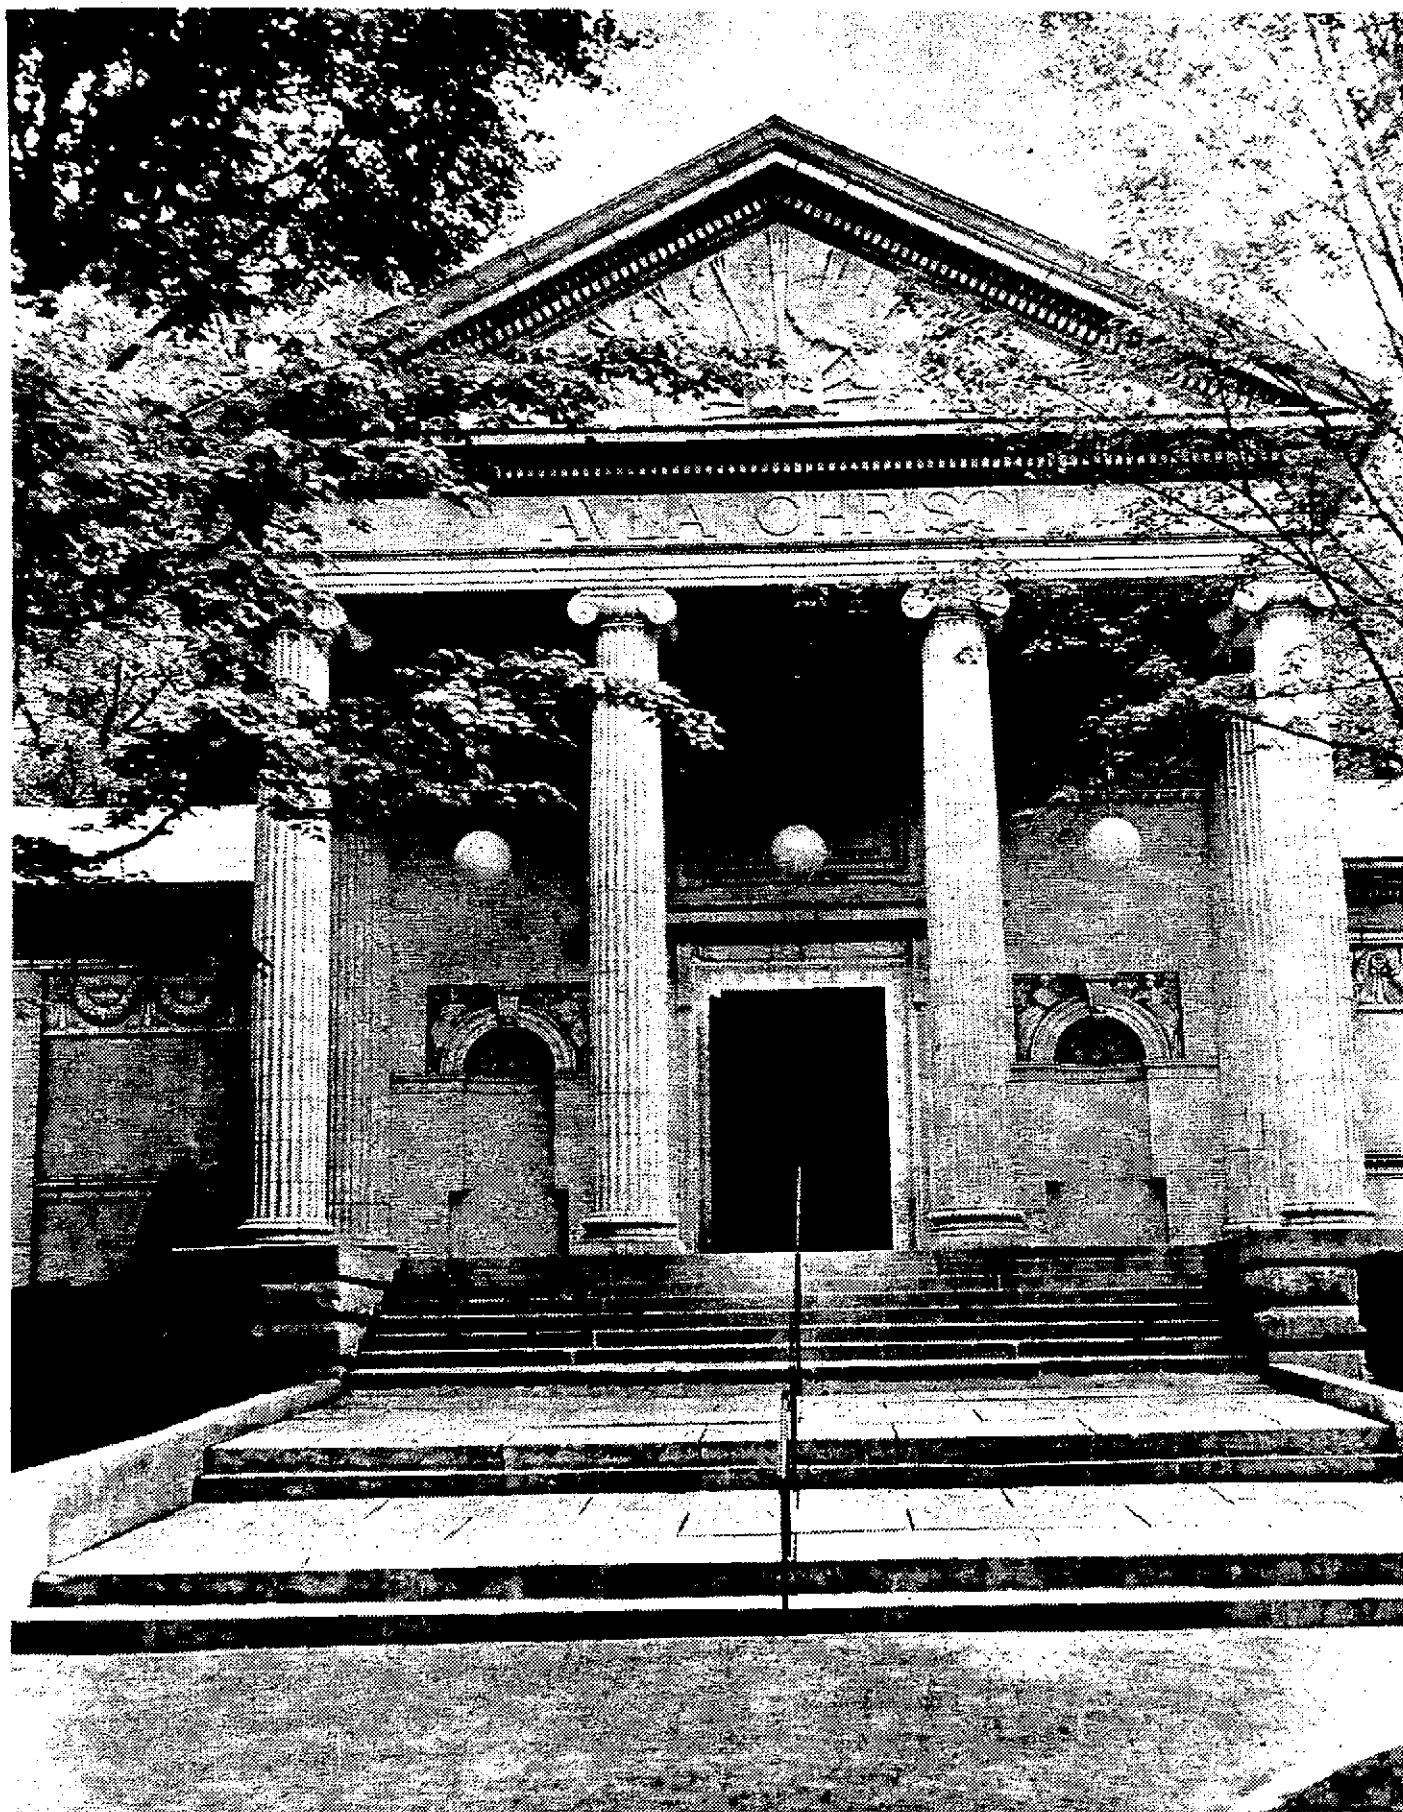

By the end of twenty years of service, leaders of Chautauqua were no longer satisfied with offering only religious instruction. The Sherwood School of Music, art and craft classes, reading groups, the theater and opera all became affiliated with the institution. The University of New York, later Syracuse University, offered college credit courses to those desiring higher education. The religious program had not taken a set-back, but by the beginning of the Twentieth Century, it was sharing its facilities with other programs.

Chautauqua seemed to remain on the road to prosperity and each year Chautauquans celebrated Old First Night on the first Tuesday in August.

Disaster struck the institution following the panic of 1929. The effects were not actually felt until 1931. Old First Night speakers of that year pleaded with the people to give to a fund to save their institution. The spirit of the people rose and between the years of 1934 and 1936 donations put Chautauqua back on its feet.

Both World Wars brought about readjustments and reevaluations that proved to be beneficial to the institution. New York state passed a special piece of legislation that made Chautauqua a non-profit educational institution. Since that time the expenses were paid from gate fees, school registration fees and endowments. Sunday is truly a day of rest

HALL OF CHRIST

The complete renovation of the Hall of Christ was a gift of Mrs. R. D. Campbell of Pittsburgh in memory of her husband. The hall which was dedicated just a year ago is now used for films, lectures, conferences and exhibits of all kinds. This building was originally a mausoleum and stood vacant for many years.

STUDENT OF MUSIC

Miss Kate Tuttle, a resident of Hawaii and a student of the University of Hawaii, has traveled to Chautauqua to study violin under the fine music program offered there. Music shacks and 'Piano Village' provide students with practice facilities throughout the grounds. (Photo by Knight)

NOTED PERFORMER

Singing to a capacity crowd in the 7,000 seat Amphitheater, Ella Fitzgerald presented a very enjoyable evening of musical entertainment, recently. The excellent musical programs offered each season range from Wednesday evening Pop Concerts to Saturday evenings with professional performers such as Miss Fitzgerald. (Photo by Knight) and relaxation at Chautauqua. Church School is provided for the children and discussion groups are held for the young students in the Hall of Missions. Fifteen Protestant denominational houses are scattered throughout the grounds. Roman Catholic masses and Jewish worship services are also held. The morning worship service is held in the Amphitheater with a different chaplain presenting the sermon each week.

Other events during the day include concerts by the Chautauqua Symphony Orchestra, organ recitals, vesper services, lakeside services near the outdoor model of Palestine which is located on the lake shore and sacred song services in the Amphitheater with music by the Chautauqua choir.

The Chautauqua daily schedule provides activities for every member of the family. Besides the school programs, youth and college clubs keep the young people busy while the older members of the family are attending lectures, exhibits, club meetings, concerts or taking in 18 holes of golf.

For the tourists who visit the area, a bus, the Spirit of Chautauqua, will take them on a tour of the grounds and the yacht, Gadfly, will sail them around the lake.

YOUTH BUILDING

Chautauqua's new Youth Activities Center, a $93,000 building on the lake shore, serves the boys' and girls' club program for six to fifteen years old, which last year saw 1,100 new faces. The new building houses a spacious game and recreation room, craft and special activities rooms, staff offices and housing facilities for three senior staff members and sixteen single counselors.

NURSERY SCHOOL

The "youngest" generation is not forgotten at Chautauqua. Nursery school under the direction of Miss Frances Gray provides the little ones with an opportunity to play and learn together. The teachers who are professionally trained are assisted by young people who are in the elementary education field.

MEMORIAL GARDENS

Small parks and memorial gardens landscape the institution's grounds. The Mrs. Joseph H. Roblee Memorial Garden was recently dedicated by Dr. Curtis W. Haug, president of Chautauqua Institution. This new garden is located behind the Smith Memorial Library and adjacent to the Amphitheater.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Arts and crafts have become a popular feature of the summer school program. These skilled-looking hands belong to a young lady from Sarasota, Florida, who is taking a course in pottery for her morning activity. Painting, jewelry making, and copper enameling are a few of the crafts offered. (Photo by Knight)

Chautauqua County Fair Opens Monday

Where can you see sky diving, a horse show, hundreds of great agricultural and commercial exhibits, a huge midway of rides and concessions, antique farm machinery, and a demolition derby or an auto thrill show all in one day?

At the 87th anniversary edition of the Chautauqua County Fair, which opens Monday in Dunkirk and continues through Saturday July 27th.

Fair officials have promised "something for everyone", and this is no exaggeration. The children, of course, will find almost everything enjoyable. Budget-minded parents bringing their children can take advantage of reducing prices on all the James E. Strates Shows rides Tuesday, July 23.

All kinds of animals and exhibits will be on display all week. The sheep display, this year, promises to be the best ever seen in Dunkirk. The county's finest cattle and poultry also will be on display.

Floral Hall will house many items of interest to the ladies - a flower show in which local garden clubs participate, Grange exhibits from around the county, baking and canned goods at their best, a photography display, outstanding needlework, antiques, and many other items.

Sky diving will be presented daily at 2 and 6:30 p.m. in front of the grandstand. The four-day 4-H horse show, with a record 437 entries, starts Monday and concludes Thursday.

For the first time, all Fairgoers from the county will be allowed on the grounds without charge until noon daily except on Saturday. This includes free parking on the grounds off the Central Avenue gate.

Top grandstand shows are scheduled nightly as follows: Monday - an all-girl demolition derby, for the first time in Dunkirk; Tuesday - New York State Championship Demolition Derby for men; Wednesday - Jole Chitwood Auto Thrill Show; Thursday - Country music show, featuring Lynn Anderson of the Lawrence Welk show and Sonny James and the Southern Gentlemen; Friday - jazz festival with six rock 'n' roll bands competing for prize money; Saturday - big double feature at night, firemen's parade and Jack Kochman Auto Thrill Show, with the Kochman show also being presented Saturday afternoon.

Fireworks are an added attraction after the grandstand shows Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights. Vaudeville acts will be presented nightly with the grandstand show, and the same vaudeville acts can be seen each afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

James E. Strates Shows, very popular here the past four years, will return with an even larger assortment of midway rides and amusements. The show will be coming to Dunkirk on 50 railroad cars.

More than $20,000 in premium money is being offered at the Fair, and indications are there will be a record number of entries.

For persons who may not want to park on the fairgrounds or who may want to combine their fun at the Fair with some shopping, there is considerable free parking at the Dunkirk-Fredonia Plaza across the street and just to the south of the Fairgrounds.

Fair officials have worked many hours preparing for this year's exposition. Officers and directors perform their duties for the Chautauqua County Agricultural Corporation without remuneration.

If you like to go where the action is, then the Chautauqua County Fair is the place to go all next week.

CHANDLERS VALLEY EUB CHURCH

People Adrift

By REV. CHAS. M. MCINTYRE
Pastor Chandlers Valley EUB Church

Adrift on the broad seas of life are millions of people who feel as if both God and man have forsaken them and no one cares to help them.

Young women are adrift and gasping for help. They have broken the laws of God and society and feel as if no one cares.

Young men have placed themselves in a position which neither God nor family or state can condone. They are adrift and know not which way to turn for help.

Many couples who think they are deeply in love have taken the vows of marriage at the altar of their church, have established a happy home and are doing well but sickness and other misfortunes have wrecked their stable finances. Hope has forsaken them and they know not which way to turn.

J. B. Coats, the song writer, has put into rhythm the dilemma and revealed the best place to go for help:

"Living below where this old sinful world

Hardly a comfort can afford;
Striving alone to face temptation sore,

Where could I go but to the Lord?

Neighbors are kind, I love them every one,

We get along in sweet accord;
But when my soul needs comfort, strength and love,

Where could I go but to the Lord?"

This poem reveals our greatest and most available Counselor which is God. He is available at all times and has infinite power to meet our every need. The 23rd Psalm reveals God as a great shepherd, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

Jesus says in Mt. 11:28-30. "Come unto me, all ye who labour and are heavy laden and I shall give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me, for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest to your souls, for my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

More than 2500 years ago a great Old Testament prophet revealed to his generation the best help when he wrote in the book of Isa. 53:6 and 7: "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon Him while he is near; let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous man thoughts and let him return unto the Lord for he will have mercy upon him and our God for he will abundantly pardon."

Ten thousand pastors, evangelists, missionaries and laymen stand ready to help all who need christian consultation. They are approachable, kindly, understanding our deepest need and will be glad to help.

May God bless and help you and see you thru your deepest need! Amen.

"...MY FELLOW REPUBLICANS!...THE NEXT PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES!...RONALD RECALL!!"

WILLIAM BUCKLEY

World Council Snafu

The World Council of Churches has made the headlines by endorsing the principle of selective objection to "particular" wars. The effect of that resolution is to put the sanction of organized Protestant Christianity behind the movement to permit individuals to select the wars they desire to participate in. The practical effect, for instance in this country, is to assist the campaign of which the Reverend William Sloane Coffin is the most conspicuous spokesman: to encourage the defiance of the laws of the United States which at this moment permit the government to conscript an army in order to implement its foreign policy.

Buckley

The argument for civil disobedience is, in other words, greatly assisted. The dissenter will now take comfort in being able to say that, to be sure he is breaking the law as narrowly understood, but the law is an unjust law, vide the World Council of Churches. Theoretically it is of no matter that there should be differences between positive and religious law. In fact, laws that defy strongly asserted religious positions are greatly weakened, particularly in an age of moral opportunism.

The moral problem posed by the World Council is, in the long run, even more disturbing than the political problem. The Council's declaration has the effect of saying that wars are justified if they are wars of personal passion. That statement is profoundly anti-Christian and indeed recidivist, suggesting the spirit of the more fanatical Crusaders. The Christian doctrine as understood during the Enlightenment is that all wars should be painful and, in human terms, objectionable (love thine enemy). Wars are justified only under clinical circumstances, e.g., and primarily, in order to defend sacred things of great value, to use the phrase of Pius XII; to defend the homeland.

But who is to decide when those things of great value are threatened? The western practice is that such decisions are made by elected governments. Under the reasoning of the Council, what matters is the individual attitude towards a particular war. The individual becomes not merely the absolute moral arbiter on whether he is (as a pacifist) prepared to commit violence under any circumstance; but whether he is prepared to commit violence under this particular circumstance. In other words, if he disagrees with the political reasoning of the duly constituted authorities, he is, by the Council's reasoning, free to cut himself out.

An extension of this view of the individual's sovereignty is pretty frightening. The state is, in the general moral understanding, permitted under given circumstances (e.g. Eichmann) to take a man's life, say for the crime of genocide. But the individual is never permitted to do so. Why not?—if the individual is supreme? If a Christian is going to deny the role of the impartial mechanism of the state in making binding decisions involving the use of violence—whether war, or electrocution, or the use of tear gas—then what is to prevent the individual from asserting his own conscience at such moments when the conscience declares that he believes violence to be necessary?

Are we not being driven, by the well-meaning lords spiritual of the World Council, back whence we came so painfully: back to the age when wars were holy wars (burn the heretics!) and individual acts of violence were the accepted protocols of ultimate moral self-assertion?

The World Council is continuing in the general march of organized Christianity towards a confused sort of secular idealism. The other two recommendations call for admitting Red China to the United Nations, concerning which problem the Council is as equipped to speak as Groucho Marx is to remove an infected appendix; and a call for the economic boycotting of racist nations, which is a splendid way to increase world misery and, considering that the majority of the nations of the world are racist in one sense or another, to drive the nations of the world towards the autarky which the world-minded Council theoretically opposes.

It is a pity, the mess the gentlemen are promoting.

May Cost Fortas Support

WASHINGTON—Justice Abe Fortas's admission that he gave advice to President Johnson on high policies of State has strengthened Senate opposition to his confirmation. In fact, his testimony that he had summarized the advice of others on Vietnam for the President may have lost him support among some liberal Senators.

It had long been known in Washington society that the Fortases cancelled out on dinner parties because they were suddenly called to intimate family dinners at the White House.

It was also known that President Johnson had asked Fortas's advice on a great many subjects ranging from whom he should appoint as Attorney General and whom he should appoint to the regulatory agencies, to the war in Vietnam. The President himself has been quite frank about this, even when Fortas himself was denying it.

On more than one occasion after he was appointed to the Supreme Court, Fortas remarked bellicosely that it was libel per se to print reports that he had been conferring with President Johnson. Obviously this was a sensitive matter—though he has now confessed it to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

But the President himself was not so sensitive, and frankly informed many people that Justice Fortas was one of the trusted friends on whom he leaned for advice.

Now it develops from Fortas's own testimony that he must have been the leading hawk among the war advisers. This has been suspected but never documented.

The president numbered among his advisers Secretary of State Rusk, who assumed the role of impartiality; former Secretary of Defense McNamara, a definite dove; Ambassador Averell Harriman, a dove; Walt Rostow, a hawk; Under Secretary of State George Ball, a dove; Ambassador Arthur Goldberg, a dove; the Joint Chiefs of Staff, hawks; and Clark Clifford, who since he has become Secretary of Defense has been revealed as something of a dove.

If Justice Fortas summarized this conflicting advice for the President, then by his own testimony it would appear that he kept the President on a war course which turned out to be one of the most disastrous in the history of the United States; a course which has undermined the other truly great domestic accomplishments of the President.

Testifying on other matters, Fortas glossed over his persistent recommendation that U.S. Attorney David Bress be made a U.S. district judge. Bress has been an excellent U.S. attorney and deserves reward. However, the basic point is whether a member of the Supreme Court should recommend judgeships. Under the constitutional separation of the executive from the judiciary, he should not. Yet Fortas recommended Bress as U.S. attorney in the first place, and then asked that he be promoted to be a judge in the second place.

He was also firm in vetoing such men as New York attorney Louis Nizer to be Attorney General, though this occurred before Fortas assumed his position on the bench.

No Supreme Court Justice has conferred with the President more than has Fortas, except for Justice Felix Frankfurter, who was a notorious busybody in running back and forth between the Court and the White House.

All of this runs counter to the long history of the United States in which the Chief Justice has been completely independent of the White House, sometimes at loggerheads with it.

It began with Chief Justice John Marshall, whom Thomas Jefferson described as "a crafty Chief Justice who sophisticates the law to his mind by the turn of his own reasoning."

Yet it was John Marshall who probably more than any other man used the Supreme Court to keep the early struggling states from becoming a looseknit federation. Had it not been for John Marshall's tough decisions and his independence of the White House, the United States would not be the powerful country it is today.

The tug-of-war between the court and the White House continued under Abraham Lincoln, who said of the Dred Scott decision that it got the doctrine of democracy down "as thin as the hemeopathic soup made by boiling the shadow of a pigeon that had starved to death."

On the other hand there was the close and secret liaison between President Buchanan and Justice Catron of Tennessee and Justice Grier of Pennsylvania by which Buchanan knew in advance that the Missouri Compromise was to be held invalid.

Among the more recent Chief Justices, Charles Evans Hughes was horrified when President Roosevelt suggested conferences between him and the Court.

Perhaps the ideal relationship between the President and the Chief Justice has been that between Earl Warren and Lyndon Johnson. They maintain friendly, cordial relations, but remain completely aloof where policy is concerned.

In the case of Justice Fortas it is easy to understand why Lyndon Johnson, having leaned on Abe for advice for 30 years, continued to lean on him after he went to the Supreme Court. It was a natural relationship and Fortas's advice on domestic matters was brilliant. The question, however, is, first, whether this was correct relationship; and, second, whether the advice of a man who knew nothing about foreign affairs was not disastrous for the American people.

Only Bride's Vote Counted

HARRISBURG — ABSENTEE BALLOT — They're still arguing over absentee ballots in the Senate seat vacancy in York County. One bridegroom had his ballot tossed out because being away on a honeymoon was not an "unavailable" absence. But his bride's vote counted. Her "new duties in life" required her to accompany her husband.

COUNTRY CLUBS — A House - Senate investigating committee is poking around those juvenile forestry camps operated by the Department of Public Welfare. At the Warrendale camp, the per capita cost per inmate is $8,723 annually while at the Justice Department's Juvenile accommodations at White Hill average out at $2,583.

The latter (regular subscribers will note) is three times as much as the State is paying smart kids for their college subsidies and more than four times the per capita handout for people on welfare.

Comments Senator Albert Pechan: "What they're doing (in Welfare) is making these centers and camps into country clubs."

"I think we get as good results out of White Hill as we do from those camps. And at White Hill," adds the Ford City dentist, "you don't get involved in all that psychiatry and psychology."

The State Welfare Department is under fire also for its proposal to eliminate farming operations at 17 State hospitals. That decision was delayed for a year after more than a dozen legislators with hospitals in their districts threatened to oppose the entire Welfare budget if the farm shutdown decision was not reversed.

The fires were lighted after Welfare Secretary Thomas W. Georges acknowledged that the shutdowns were planned. When the legislators' threats reached Governor Shafer, he called the idea "absolutely untrue."

The Governor then announced a year-long study "with special inquiry into the therapeutic value" of farm work for mental patients. Dr. Georges had quoted his experts as saying that farm work lacked therapeutic value for mental patients.

Economically, the farms contribute in a major way to the operations of the State hospitals. The mental hospital at Norristown in Montgomery County — where 77 persons opted for farm work in one recent year — has 466 acres in farm crops, 85 acres in vegetables, 162 acres for a dairy herd, and some timberland.

The farm provides $500,000 of the $1.1 million in food supplies required by the hospital annually. Its net return as a farm investment was 30 percent and its average net profit has been $105,853.

Wernersville State Hospital in Berks County earned $69,288 in cash profits last year and food going to feed the residents of that hospital was valued at $202,222.

The issue of therapeutic values pits laymen against the psychiatrists and psychologists. But Rep. William G. Piper, a suburban Reading insurance executive, has his own theory — as do other non-medical legislators.

"The people are getting out on the land with something to do," says Piper, "rather than sitting around, thinking and brooding."
